Tension High At Geneva To-day

Mussolini Balks On Plans and League Session Is Delayed

Council May Meet Tomorrow If French and British Negotiations Can Induce Italy to Agree on Procedure For Discussion of Ethiopian Dispute

Laval Telephones To Mussolini

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Geneva, Aug. 1.—Geneva to-night was buzzing again with feverish negotiations, diplomats balking for the time in efforts to find a way out of the Italo-Ethiopian deadlock.
After Premier Mussolini had turned down the Anglo-French draft resolution on procedure, the public session of the League Council set for 5 o'clock this afternoon was called off. It may be held to-morrow, if agreements can be obtained on a new draft.

HINTS OF ITALY REVOLT HEARD

Rumors Reach London Bankers That Outbreak May Come

Associated Press
London, Aug. 1.—The financial editor of The London Herald published to-day that London bankers' reports says: "Opposition to Mussolini's policy is growing so rapidly that a revolt against him can no longer be regarded as altogether impossible."
The Herald article stated the Italian Premier was "faced with grave financial difficulties and trying desperately, but without success, to raise credits of several million pounds in the city of London (the financial district)."
It added: "London bankers are convinced the Italian financial position is becoming too serious for fresh credits to be a reasonable risk."

MACHINE GUNS IN ETHIOPIAN JUNGLE

Opening Election Campaign, Mr. King Says: First Step for Full Recovery in Canada Must Be Ending by Voters of Tendencies Toward Dictatorship Witnessed Since 1930 Election; Declares Liberal Majority Large Enough to Keep Senate on Straight Path Is Dominion's Best Hope for Better Times and Contentment

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—"The first step towards permanent recovery or reform in Canada must be the decisive repudiation by the Canadian electorate of the tendencies towards dictatorship manifested during the last five years."

This is the belief of the Liberal Party as declared by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King.

In the address yesterday evening with which the general election campaign of the Liberals throughout the Dominion was opened, the leader added there must be "an equally decisive repudiation of measures, by whatever party they may be advocated, which tend in the direction of Hitlerism, Fascism, or Communism. In Canada we want, and we need, none of these."

Border Action Draws Protest

Men Stopped at Alberta Boundary When Seeking Harvesting Jobs

Action of the federal police halting relief men from British Columbia, many of whom are traveling to the prairies to seek harvesting jobs, has drawn vigorous protest by the British Columbia government, it was learned to-day.
According to reports reaching Victoria, scores of men are being stopped daily at the Alberta border.
Many have been taken to court on charges of "riding the rode" and jailed for terms up to thirty days.
A crowded condition has been created in interior jails as a result, and Ottawa authorities have been told that if the arrests continue they will have to find their own jail accommodation, it is understood.
The British Columbia protest is based on the fact that every year there is a normal flow of transient labor (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

Survey Shows Where Incidence of Expenditure By Provincial Government Occurs; Third of Payroll Comes to Victoria; Value of Being Capital City

A survey completed to-day reveals that slightly more than 22 per cent of the entire expenditure by the provincial government, exclusive of the annual debt charges, is devoted to Victoria and Vancouver Island, which has 17.4 per cent of the population of the province and 3.4 of the area.
A substantial part of this expenditure is in the civil service payroll, which in Victoria alone in the fiscal year 1933-34 amounted to $1,128,000, roughly one-third of the provincial total. Adding to this $68,000 odd spent on public works plus purchases of supplies and other incidental expenditures which cannot be segregated, it is estimated the existence of the provincial Parliament Buildings in Victoria is worth between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 to the business life of the city. The civil service payroll alone accounts for more than $1,000,000 annually in direct expenditure within the city and district.
TOTAL FOR ISLAND
Figures taken from the 1933-34 accounts of the government show that total expenditures on Vancouver Island during that year, exclusive of debt, were $2,811,760.24 against a total for the province of $12,674,471.67. The island proportion was 22.18 per cent. This included $1,333,000 in salaries paid to civil servants, teachers, police and other services, and $1,578,760 in other expenditures. Out of $1,512,303 spent on public works (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

E. L. McKenzie Missing From Qualicum Since Yesterday; Boat Found

Fears for the safety of Earl L. McKenzie of Sidney, who has been missing from Qualicum Beach since yesterday morning when he left on a fishing trip, were entertained by residents of the island resort to-day.
Mr. McKenzie's boat was found off Flower Island, at the southern tip of Hornby Island.
Mr. McKenzie had been spending a holiday at Qualicum and left Mrs. Zeta Harrison's camp yesterday morning on a fishing trip. He was in a small motor boat. He has been unreported since.
Mr. McKenzie is a well known resident of Sidney, where he made his home since returning from the Great War. For many years he operated the Sidney Super Service Station, and latterly had been fishing as a livelihood. He is married and has one child.
He spent four years overseas, returning with a disabled arm. It is feared this would have handicapped him in the event of his having met an accident. He is about fifty years of age.

SAYS PARLIAMENT TO RESTORE RIGHTS

RT. HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING

His faith in parliamentary government was declared by Mr. King to his audience from coast to coast in these words:

"For my part I propose to stand or fall upholding in all things the parliamentary method of government."

As he delivered the first of three radio addresses over a national hook-up of the Canadian Radio Commission Mr. King broke a silence he had maintained since the close of Parliament.

MAJORITY IS IMPORTANT

He asked for a sweeping Liberal majority in the House of Commons after the election, a majority large enough to prevent the predominantly Conservative Senate from thwarting the will of the people.

Canadians should study the actions and doctrines of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, Hon. H. H. Stevens and J. S. Woodsworth in the light of what had happened in other countries, said Mr. King. They should ask themselves whether these doctrines did not tend in the direction of dictatorship.

The Liberal leader struck out at suggestions a National Government be formed.

National government was only another form of dictatorship, said Mr. King. The propaganda in its favor was being financed by special interests, who wanted railways, tariffs and taxation used in their own advantage as no single party would dare.

MANY AND VARIED APPEALS

Opening his address, Mr. King said: "During the next few weeks you will be hearing a great deal about the political issues of the day. In the press, from the platform, over the radio, you will be told what the different political parties are prepared to do for you and our country. You will be given many reasons why one party rather than another merits your support. Appeals will be made from every conceivable point of view, some to your intelligence, many to your prejudices, more to your sentiments and feelings.

"There are large and fundamental issues to be discussed, but there is a danger of the importance of these being lost to sight through much that may be said or what, in the shortest time, and with least effort, or cost, on your own part, is certain to remedy existing ills, and bring about, for all, an immediate condition of prosperity, plenty and peace."

The admonition, issued through the Schutz Staffeln organ, The Black Corps, and reproduced by Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, followed orders by Count von Helldorf, Berlin's news police president, for his men to hold themselves ready for eventualities all this week.
The capital, however, was outwardly quiet.

municipalities, the Premier declared the reorganization was an attempt to save the interest of the municipalities as of the province, and he urged co-operation in seeking a solution of the problem.

RACKET FOR SOME

"Relief in this province has been a racket with a proportion of those on relief," he said, "and it is inconceivable that this province should be expected to continue to pay more than 60 per cent of its entire revenue for relief purposes. No government can stand this and no system of taxation could raise sufficient money to enable the province to balance its budget under such impossible conditions."

The government is working out a new relief system, with more responsibility on the municipalities.

After Premier Mussolini had turned down the Anglo-French draft resolution on procedure, the public session of the League Council set for 5 o'clock this afternoon was called off. It may be held to-morrow, if agreement can be obtained on a new draft.

BY TELEPHONE

Despite a lengthy plea by Premier Laval of France, over the long-distance telephone, Premier Mussolini declined to accept the draft resolution as it stood—calling for revival of the arbitration commission while Britain, France and Italy worked in collaboration with Ethiopia at a permanent settlement. He wanted important modifications.

Efforts at compromise got under way promptly.

TREATY QUOTED

Mussolini's objections are said to be chiefly directed against those provisions inserted in the draft at the instance of the British delegation. These provided especially for non-recourse to arms, and recalled articles two and five of the 1925 arbitration treaty between Italy and Ethiopia.

Under article two, both agreed not to take action attacking each other's

This work is an attempt to "humanize" philosophy, and condenses into a form intelligible to the layman the contributions by leading philosophers to the fund of human thought. The book was an instant success, and went through several editions, and is still one of today's best-sellers.

HEAT DEATHS IN U.S. TOTAL 108

Fifth Of Total B.C.
Outlay Goes On the

throughout the province, exclusive of salaries and unemployment relief, Vancouver Island received $256,136, or 19.5 per cent.

Actually the government pays out 37 per cent of the provincial payroll on Vancouver Island. Thirty-four per cent of it is in Victoria.

Segregation of the expenditure by departments gives an interesting study of the way in which the provincial income is distributed back.

In 1933, for instance, the Department of Agriculture spent $32,316 on the island out of $137,062, not including salaries. This is 23.5 per cent.

The attorney-general's department, out of a total allotment of $24,270, spent $140,183, or 33 per cent, on the island.

Out of $877,132 spent by the finance department all over the province, $145,956, or 16.6 per cent went on Vancouver Island.

Sixty-two per cent of the fisheries department expenditure, which totaled $6,375, went to the island, which has the major part of the fisheries industry.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Nearly 19 per cent of the old age pensions were paid out to island residents, amounting to $76,939, out of a total of $409,282.

From the lands department the island received $11,981 out of a total of $176,456, and the mines department spent $13,085 out of $77,473 on matters affecting the island.

Thirteen per cent of the provincial secretary's expenditures, amounting to $366,147 out of $2,786,285, went to Victoria and island ridings, and the education department spent $454,189 out of $2,844,440, or 16.4 per cent.

Vancouver Island receives the lion's share, of course, on expenditures for legislation, since the session is held here. Out of $104,868 spent for this purpose, 70 per cent, or $74,273, was paid out here.

In the light of recent agitation for a different set-up in the distribution of government funds, the figures throw a new aspect upon the discussions. Factors to be taken into consideration are the island population of 129,932, which is 17.4 per cent of the provincial total of 694,263, and the island area of 12,800 square miles, roughly 4 per cent of the 350,000 square miles in British Columbia as a whole.

Border Action

eastward from this province. Hundreds of men go every year at this time. Normally this travel aggregates between 3,000 and 4,000 men.

In the winter months the transient flow is out to the coast, where climatic conditions are better.

If the normal flow eastward is halted this year and the westward transients permitted to enter the province in the winter, the labor situation will be even more aggravated this winter, it is claimed.

Some of those attempting to go east now are men who came back with the relief camp strikers' trek.

In one case where eighteen men were stopped at the border, only two were actually residents of British Columbia, it was reported.

The British Columbia authorities, it was stated, would press their point to have the travel permitted.

ing home-brew for their own consumption.

While the removal of this clause from the liquor act has been contemplated owing to what appears a strange anomaly, on the other hand the unsealed liquor clause is the only weapon which police have, in some cases, to combat bootlegging. Courts have presumed in many instances that possession of an unusually large amount of unsealed liquor is evidence of possession for unlawful sale. Thus if the clause were taken out, the means of combating illegal trafficking in liquor would be restricted, it was explained.

Under the strict reading of the act, any time a person completes a batch of home-brew he should immediately get in touch with the liquor board and ask an inspector to come up and put the official seals on the bottles. This would be impossible from a practical point of view. It would cost a huge sum annually to have inspectors chasing round the province for every half dozen bottles of home-brew manufactured.

Middle West Has Unwelcome
Weather; Showers Only in Scattered Districts

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Young August to-day initiated the abominable waves of heat that beset July through its month of existence.

A new record high for the year, 111 degrees, blistered Phillipsburg, Kas., on the final day of July, and Topeka, Kas., saw the mercury reach 106.

Reported heat deaths in eleven Middle Western states reached 108. Nebraska had 19, Oklahoma 18, Minnesota 13 and Texas 10. Deaths reported from other states included: Kansas, Mine, Illinois and Missouri each, Arkansas 5, Wisconsin 6 and Iowa 4.

There were showers in northern Nebraska and in South Dakota, but they served only to accentuate the heat.

ACTION POLICY OF LIBERALS

pressed on the national administration, FUNDAMENTAL PROPOSALS

Fundamental policies for which he declared included:

1. Expansion of Canadian trade by the Liberal fair trade policy.

2. National control and ownership of the National Central Bank, with all that implies in the way of control of currency and credit.

3. Debt, refunding at lower interest.

4. Convening of a Dominion-provincial conference immediately to iron out hampering discrepancies in the country's constitutional set-up.

5. A national reconstruction commission to grapple with unemployment by broad, constructive policies.

These policies were again subdivided in detail, to indicate very clearly the kind of action which may be expected from a Liberal government.

Sweeping aside all questions of criticizing political opponents as irrelevant, Mr. Mackenzie, contented himself with the broad proposition that the policies of Bennett and Stevens as exemplified in high tariffs, unemployment relief, Imperial conferences, national and fiscal exclusionism for the last five years had failed.

CHANGES IN THINKING

Recognizing there have been great changes in people's ways of thinking, the speaker said:

"Men realize their mistakes. Men's thoughts have changed from wealth to service, from the machine to the human element, from power and accumulation and acquiescence to human needs and requirements. They realize that if the necessary changes and corrections do not come through constitutional and legislative means there may be less desirable methods forced on us."

There are many international questions that must be adjusted, but our first problem is Canada—a definite liberal plan for Canada. And Canada begins with our own city, this great progressive western metropolis.

"Do we want this city again to be represented by some opposition, minority group? There is too much at stake."

PORT DEVELOPMENT

Mr. Mackenzie urged the Vancouver electorate to join him in pressing for following specific objectives for this city:

1. Expansion of trade and development of port facilities.

2. Such public works as may be possible by government or in co-operation with industry for providing as much employment as possible.

3. Early construction by private capital of the First Narrows Bridge, with every possible protection for harbor navigation.

4. Early completion during Jubilee Year (1938) of the Canadian National Hotel.

5. Talking over Garibaldi Park as a national park and provision of the necessary highways.

6. Furtherance of policies which will relieve the taxation burdens of civic taxpayers and look after the interest of the consumer, who has been the forgotten man of Tory policies for five years.

7. Resumption of the fight for freight rate equalization, the advantages won in earlier efforts having been largely swept away by subsequent developments.

TARIFF ADJUSTMENTS

8. Comprehensive investigation of tariff discriminations against B.C. with a view to seeking compensating adjustments.

9. Renewal of the fight for extension of the P.O.E. into the Peace River, and if that is not immediately feasible for construction of a Peace River Highway.

Japan and which had been so badly handled by the "mistake" tactics of Prime Minister Bennett was the direct result of the Stevens trade policies, he said, even though Mr. Stevens was out when his chickens came home to roost.

The speaker declared that "negotiations must be resumed in a spirit of military and friendly spirit in accord with the Liberal policy of fair trade, if this city and province are to be saved from a mortal economic blow."

EARLY CONFERENCE

Declaring the Liberal Party stands for the liberation of external trade, the liberation of internal trade, the development of the primary industries, the control of credit, the control of investments, the safeguarding of the National Railways, the democratization of industry, the restoration of responsible government, the reassertion of personal liberty, a balanced budget, and a policy of good will in international relations, Mr. Mackenzie presented to his audience the programme by which he believes the Liberal Party should proceed towards those ends.

He advocated:

1. An immediate Dominion-provincial conference to deal with amendments to the B.N.A. Act necessitated by changed economic conditions, redefining the taxation powers of the respective governments, elimination of duplicate taxation, and so on, to arrive at a complete understanding on the unemployment emergency.

COURT TESTS

2. Clarification through references to the Supreme Court and agreement with the provinces of the validity of some of the recent Bennett reform legislation so as to strengthen it and make it workable.

3. A national refunding scheme on a voluntary basis, but with compulsory features if the voluntary plan fails.

4. Negotiations with foreign creditors for better terms on interest rates.

RECONSTRUCTION COMMISSION

Mr. Mackenzie also advocated abolition of the board of commissions and boards recently set up, and the creation of a single National Reconstruction Commission to supervise the unemployment problem and the development of such constructive policies as housing and slum clearance, abolition of level crossings, scientific reforestation, development of civil aviation, subsidizing the search for gold and encouragement of tourist traffic.

NEW CURRENCY

Currency expansion without inflation was supported by the speaker, who said Canada's present gold reserve of $180,000,000 entitled this country to issue $400,000,000 of new currency, which he contended should be used for debt reduction, thereby making a big saving in the country's interest bill.

In expounding the Liberal fair trade policy, he said this would involve comprehensive tariff reductions, revision of empire treaties in favor of both Canada and the empire, and negotiations with other nations for liberalized trade agreements, including especially reciprocity with the United States, and in some cases, perhaps direct exchange of goods between Canada and other nations.

RAILWAY PROBLEM

While insisting on preservation of the integrity of the Canadian National Railways, the property of the people of Canada, Mr. Mackenzie suggested an examination of the various proposals for solving the railway problem, by a cabinet committee of three, together with the heads of the two systems and representatives of railway labor.

The speaker also insisted that Liberalism was big enough and broad enough to investigate any proposed reform for the solution of the country's economic difficulties, and advocated a commission of experts to study the various proposals regarding social and national credit, and labor social division of work.

WAGES FOR WORK

Mr. Mackenzie came out emphatically against the present system of relief camps, and suggested a system of construction camps doing useful work and paying a wage of 40c an hour for a five-hour day would give the men self-respect and confidence until their reabsorption into industry.

Workers would receive a return monthly, after board and other fees had been deducted, of $30.25.

Analysis of the cost, he said, showed the total burden on the treasury would be only $6,000,000 a year greater than the present wasteful, soul-debilitating methods.

The wage he suggested would be only a beginning, because with the Liberal policy of trade expansion the number reabsorbed into industry would make possible a gradual increase in the wage standard on government construction work.

His statement was cheered lustily by the gathering.

TRIBUTE TO LEADER

Mr. Mackenzie paid high tribute to his leader, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, as the man best qualified by experience and ability to lead Canada back into the paths of greater trade and broader liberty.

Tom Reid, M.P. for New Westminster, and A. Munro, M.P. for Vancouver North, who also spoke briefly, were lauded by Mr. Mackenzie for their great work for British Columbia during the last five years. All the speakers were received by the big audience in the Horse Show Building with tumultuous applause.

An afternoon feature of the Liberal picnic was a programme of field events on the Hastings Park Oval. Rain came, however, and the events were completed in the Horse Show Building.

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King's address from Ottawa, 5 to 5:30 o'clock, was rebroadcast over public address systems in the Horse Show Building. Between 3,500 and 4,000 persons were in attendance at the picnic, including many children.

John Mackenzie's address, broadcast by radio, was heard in Victoria.

SURREY RESIDENT DIES

STEVENS HERE ON SATURDAY

Reconstruction Party
Leader's Address Postponed
From To-morrow Evening

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 1.—Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction Party leader, came to Vancouver to-day.

From his constituency in East Kootenai, he came by train from the coast to the Pacific, the leader of Canada's youngest party arrived here for a stay of several days.

For Mr. Stevens it was in the nature of a family reunion as well as a return to his home city. Mrs. Stevens, his brother, W. H. Stevens, and his son, Rev. Francis H. Stevens, boarded the train several miles out of the city and came into Vancouver with him. Several of the party supporters also were on the train.

A crowd on the station platform cheered Mr. Stevens. In view of his address before the House of Commons of Civic Affairs to-day, Mr. Stevens made no statement on arrival. It was announced his meeting at Victoria, arranged for Friday, had been postponed until Saturday. The Vancouver mass meeting will take place next Monday evening.

ADDRESSES YOUTH

Vancouver, Aug. 1.—Hon. H. H. Stevens gave a non-political address at a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Civic Affairs this afternoon. His subject was, "Opportunities for Youth."

Mr. Stevens advised young men to change Horace Greeley's "Go west, young man," to "Go north, young man." Northern British Columbia, he said, offered a tremendous field for unselfish activity on the part of youth.

"There is lots of room in the world to-day for those who can give leadership," said Mr. Stevens.

King Urges Voters End
Dictatorship Trend

"It is for this reason I have thought it well, before the voices become too many, to say over the radio, to you, my fellow citizens in all parts of Canada, a few things which I believe will be in your interest, and in the interest of our country."

Keep constantly in mind, and to have in mind especially on the day of polling when, by your vote, you determine how and by whom, not for to-day only, nor for the coming year, but for the next five years, our country will be governed.

EXPERIENCE AS TEACHER

"You have had one experience of being deceived by promises at a general election. Are you prepared to risk another? You have seen how long a period of time five years is; what opportunity it affords a ministry, if the ministry be so inclined, to do together to ignore, and even to defy, your clearly expressed will, and your most evident wishes. You have reason to know how all important, in the administration of a nation's affairs, are a right attitude and sound policies. You have seen how a wrong attitude has made for bitterness of feeling, for unrest and discontent, for friction between governments, and for a divided Canada. You have seen, too, how wrong policies, despite vast expenditures of public moneys, have only served to increase debt and taxation, to augment unemployment, and to prolong depression."

"Are you going to risk more in the way of bitterness, of unrest, of discontent, of conflict between governments?" asked Mr. King. "Are you prepared to take chances on policies which, over a period of another five years, will mean bankruptcy for yourself and the country, more in the way of unemployment, and further prolonged depression?"

CONSERVATIVES AND NEW PARTIES

"These are questions you do well to ask yourselves, with respect, not only to a government which long since has lost the confidence of the electorate in all parts of Canada and is now, shamefacedly, appealing to you for a renewal of your confidence; but also with respect to what is being promised and proposed by untried and newly-created political parties."

The Liberal leader then spoke of political parties, claiming there was nothing sinister or wrong about them, as some people whispered. A political party was a means to an end, a means whereby a group of like political thought could accomplish their objects.

THEY ALSO ORGANIZED

"Even Mr. Woodsworth and Mr. Stevens, who seek to create a prejudice in your minds against what they speak of as the two old political parties," the Liberal leader continued, "have found it necessary, in order to further the aims they have in view, to organize political parties of their own. Are their aims any less genuine because they are being championed by a political party? Would these parties be any less worthy of support if, in addition to their names, they had great traditions, and had fought from generation to generation for the ends they profess to be seeking to serve? You will do well, especially when there is a tendency to tear up everything by the roots, and to get aboard the last carry-all that comes along, to see that the vehicle to which, for the next five years, you intend to trust your individual fortunes, and the political and economic life of our country, is made of something more substantial than the banners pinned to its sides and the volume of sound its musicians are capable of creating."

In Canada, Mr. King said, there had been the conservative and Liberal parties for years. Liberal parties had sprung up from time to time under different names, the most recent being the C.C.F. and the Reconstruction Party. They originated generally in hard times or personal quarrels and usually became identified with some "ism" or panacea.

DURING CONSERVATIVE TERMS

Third parties in Canada invariably originated when Conservatives were in power, Mr. King said, and disappeared when the Liberals took over the administration and property was restored.

"To-day, history is once more repeating itself," he said, "we have in the field as third parties seeking nationwide recognition, not the Progressive Party, or other third parties of previous general elections, but the C.C.F. and the Reconstruction Party. Each of these parties has come into being under Tory administration since Mr. Bennett assumed office. Each is a product of the depression and discontent, which Tory policies have served to aggravate and prolong. My hope and expectation is that this history will continue to repeat itself, with the sequence with which we are already familiar. With the return of a Liberal administration to office and the adoption of Liberal policies, carried out on broad and generous lines, and with more concern for human relations than for the methods of big business of high finance, and of high pressure salesmanship, there is no reason why this period of depression should not be followed by a new era of prosperity; and why the unrest and discontent which have brought these third parties into being, and to which they owe their existence, should not also disappear."

POSITION IN COMMONS

"Let me draw your attention to what happens where candidates of third parties are returned to parliament. It is important you should clearly understand this if you expect the next parliament to be able properly to function on your behalf, and to be equal to the great tasks by which it will be confronted. Where, in the House of Commons, the elected representatives of third parties have not, sooner or later, come to join up with the members of the parties from which they originally sprang, they have invariably—some of themselves, some a group or groups, also from both the government and the opposition. They have not constituted themselves a party with any real sense of obligation or responsibility. In this irresponsible position, they have sought to hold a so-called balance of power. Indeed, this is exactly what is put forward by many as the end at which a third party should aim—a measure of power with no measure of responsibility."

"But that is not by any means the worst feature. If members of third parties remained a group or groups, championing definite principles and policies, the situation might not be so difficult for a government to handle. They tend, however, to become, not so much a group, or even groups, of known mind and purpose, but as a aggregation with as many minds and purposes as there are individuals."

NEED OF STABILITY

"There may be times when it may make little difference to a country whether its parliament contains groups which sit, as it were, on a political teeter-totter and enjoy the game of see-saw, giving their support to the government or withholding it from the government, or without apparent rhyme or reason. Such a situation is not the situation in Canada. You cannot reconstruct on quicksand any more than you can lean upon a broken reed. Any uncertainty with respect to the authority and power of the government which is to conduct the affairs of Canada during the next five years will render impossible the fulfillment of the policies necessary to bring Canada out of the depression in which she has labored for so long, and will seriously militate against the accomplishment of the most necessary reforms. I want to say my fellow Canadians, very earnestly, that the times through which we are passing are of such a nature that no government, except it be a government enjoying the most complete confidence of the people of Canada, can hope to meet the needs of the present, or equal the grave situations by which, in any month or year, Canada may be confronted as a result of conditions at home and abroad, stability and an unmistakable majority are more essential than ever."

Big Meteor Seen Over Ontario

Toronto, Aug. 1.—A huge meteor thrilled Toronto citizens yesterday evening. It was described as shooting like a rocket out of the northwest, leaving a streak of yellow light which remained in the heavens for about ten minutes.

Under ideal conditions, three meteors an hour is the average number visible from any given point on the surface of the earth.

Ex-chief Freed Of Bribe Charge

Vancouver Magistrate Dismisses Case Against John Cameron

Vancouver, Aug. 1.—John Cameron was exonerated of a charge of receiving a bribe in the form of a reward for return of stolen bonds when magistrate Mackenzie Matheson yesterday dismissed the case against the former chief of police.

Cameron was charged with accepting $300 from H. L. Rademacher, Granville Street broker, for the return of bonds valued at $6,000, which had been taken from the broker's office safe by safebreakers January, 1934.

The bonds were subsequently recovered and returned to Rademacher, who wrote a letter to the board of police commissioners commending the work of the then chief, Cameron, and other officers who were responsible for the return of the bonds.

Almost as soon as the evidence in the case had been completed Magistrate Matheson ordered the case dismissed.

"I have no hesitation in finding there is no evidence to show the accused corruptly received money from Rademacher," the magistrate said. "The charge is dismissed."

According to evidence given yesterday Cameron had called Rademacher to the police station several days after the robbery and said he had certain information which might lead to the recovery of the bonds.

Rademacher agreed to pay a reward of $300, which was paid over to the chief, who said it was to go to his informant. Later the broker received $4,000 worth of the missing securities and within a few days the remaining stolen bonds were thrust through the letter slot of his office door.

Called as a witness at the trial yesterday, Rademacher said he had not wished to prosecute Cameron. He had been delighted with the work done by the chief and his men, Rademacher said, and still believed the recovery of the bonds was the result of good police work. He had signed the information which led to Cameron's arrest on the charge. Rademacher explained, because he believed it was merely a legal matter for the police to decide.

NEW ISSUE AT LOWEST RATES

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—Breaking all records for low interest rates, a $30,000,000 issue of Dominion Canada treasury bills has just been sold. At the price received the average yield per annum on the bills is 1.237 per cent per annum. The previous low mark was an issue of $20,000,000 sold to yield 1.38 per cent per annum.

Guards Object To Tobacco For Apes

New York, Aug. 1.—A temperance campaign to get the apes at the Bronx Zoo to stop chewing and smoking cigars and cigarettes was under way today.

The campaign was disclosed when Magistrate Stanley Renaud yesterday fined a recent Zoo visitor $5 for throwing a lighted cigar into the cage housing the gorilla and chimpanzee. Park officials felt the inmate's pernicious habits could be cured if visitors would refrain from passing out free smokes.

The offender was Michael Petrachione, who said he could not pay the fine and went to the workhouse for two days.

ATTACKED BY BANDITS

LEADERS IN CHURCH DEFENCE IN GERMANY

As the Nazis continue their campaign of "unification" on several fronts in Germany the views of the Catholic community are voiced by a number of leaders, including Cardinal Michael Faulhaber, right above, and Cardinal Schulte, left. This week, in a defence of church principles, Cardinal Faulhaber, Archbishop of Munich, denied the Nazi suggestion there was Catholic-Communist co-operation against the government in Bavaria.

NAZI DEBATE IN AUSTRIA

TWO ARE KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Winnipeg, Aug. 1.—Rev. T. E. Taylor, chaplain at the Stony Mountain Penitentiary, was instantly killed and Mrs. Taylor succumbed later to injuries received when their automobile crashed into a Canadian Pacific Railway train, northeast of this city yesterday evening.

Mr. Taylor, according to eye-witnesses, was apparently unaware of the approaching train until just before the impact. The automobile was completely wrecked.

Mr. Taylor was on a vacation. Three sons, including Frank, Canadian Radio Commission artist, at Toronto, survive the couple.

It was not known whether the bandits, said to number several scores, were members of the band which has been holding Gareth Jones, British journalist, for three weeks.

If Hapsburg Returns to Throne Country Might Be Thrown Into Hitler's Control, Say Opponents

Vienna, August 1.—A prediction that return of the Hapsburgs might toss independent Austria squarely into Adolf Hitler's lap today marked the controversy raging throughout central Europe over the monarchist question.

"Far from ending 'once and for all' the Nazi menace here, spokesmen for anti-monarchists in Austria and in the Little Entente countries contended, would transform us willingly into practical allies of Hitler Germany."

However much they may dislike the prospect of an Austria under Nazism, Jugoslavia, Roumania and Czechoslovakia feel themselves much more directly menaced by return of the Hapsburgs. Otto's enthronement, they contend, "would transform us willingly into practical allies of Hitler Germany."

LONG-TERM DANGER
Inside Austria, Socialists and Democrats, who hate the Nazi movement, nevertheless might prefer Nazism to the Hapsburgs. On the theory the Nazi reign might be brief while the Hapsburgs might stay several centuries.

Austria's Nazis, however, are opposing the Hapsburg restoration just as vigorously as Socialists, Democrats and Little Entente spokesmen.

RESTORATION OF WEALTH
Warnings are published in the secretly-circulated, illegal Nazi press. The Josefstadt Nachrichten raps an Austrian government which, "when forced loans are necessary to keep things going, when pensions and doles are being slashed 20 to 30 per cent, has the lamentable courage to give back to the Hapsburgs two dozen estates, palaces and apartment buildings—losing millions into the hands of... parasites."

"Let the Hapsburgs just try to come back! They'll find us ready for them," it concludes.

The monarchist reply may be summed up: "Don't be fooled by 'bluff' and loud barking."

WHISTLER SWAN AT SANCTUARY
Calgary, Aug. 1.—A whistler swan, wounded by a hunter, is attracting attention here at the Inglewood Bird Sanctuary, where it is recovering. There are only 100 whistler swans on the North American continent, according to W. J. Selby Walker, on whose land the sanctuary is situated. The bird has a wing-spread of eighty-eight inches.

"GYP" TOLLS ARE LARGE
Winnipeg, Aug. 1.—The "gyp" business took $20,000 out of Canada in 1934, a service club was told yesterday by C. S. Booth, a member of the Winnipeg Better Business Bureau. He based his figures on disclosures of fraudulent business and made a plea for better organization to combat such practices.

HAVE MORE FUN ON MOTOR TRIPS
It's pretty hard to beat a motor trip for sheer fun—if you're well. But you have to feel good to enjoy play, as well as work.

Keep fit as a fiddle when you travel, whether by train or by motor car. Take along a bottle of Eno's "Fruit Salt." Whenever you get thirsty, or tired, or when you begin to feel the effects of change of cooking and lack of exercise, take a dash of Eno in a glass of water. Eno is the travellers' best friend. It makes a pleasant-tasting, thirst-quenching, refreshing drink.

Eno is alkaline. It neutralizes the acids of other foods, gives heartburn a short shrift. Encourages the intestines to eliminate waste, cools the bloodstream, regularizes the entire inner system. Keep free from constipation and enjoy life, both at home and on the road. Eno does the trick. The action is gentle—natural. Every effect of Eno's "Fruit Salt" is pleasant and beneficial... and safe! Two Cyclists Are Crossing Canada
Calgary, Aug. 1.—En route to Halifax on bicycles, two former Manitoba newspapermen, "Caribou Bill" Anger and Dick Hersey, were visitors in Calgary today. When they arrived from Vancouver yesterday they completed the first leg of their trip across Canada. After a few days' rest here they will continue their journey eastward.

To give their trip an unusual angle, the men dipped the rear wheels of their machines in the Pacific ocean and when they reach the eastern port they plan to dip the front wheels in the Atlantic.

The adventurers have one bicycle equipped with a sidecar to transport their camping equipment.

Event At Grave Of Chief Seattle

Pioneer and Potlatch Move to Rescue Famous Indian's Tomb From Neglect

Seattle, Aug. 1.—Pioneers and sons and daughters of pioneers joined in a solemn and sacred pilgrimage across Puget Sound today to the quiet hillside where the bones of Chief Seattle—"firm friend of the whites," lie in a neglected grave.

They were summoned by E. W. Lyman, president of the Washington State Pioneers' Association, to rescue the resting place of the chief who gave his name to the Puget Sound metropolitan area, from neglect and to hold a memorial ceremony in the chieftain's honor.

Simultaneously, Ralph H. Royal, director of traditions for the International Potlatch, Seattle celebration now in progress, organized a movement to provide perpetual care for the chief's last resting place, and to reconstruct, if possible, the chief's famed communal "longhouse" on its original site near the grave.

The chief, baptized Nohan Seattle, was about eighty years old when he died June 7, 1866. He was leader of the Suquamish and allied tribes and the body was buried in a little Catholic graveyard above Suquamish, on the mainland overlooking Port Madison Bay and Agate Pass, which separates the Kitsap mainland from the northern tip of Bainbridge Island.

BIG TAX SUITS IN ONTARIO

Canadian Press
Toronto, Aug. 1.—Writs were issued yesterday by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn in his capacity as Ontario Provincial Treasurer against fourteen corporations alleging non-payment of taxes under the Corporation Tax Act and failures to make returns required by the act.

In most cases the years covered are 1931 and 1932, and where there is a claim for non-payment of corporation tax the penalty of double the amount due is demanded. Penalty for failure to make returns is $20 a day.

The Premier declined to say whether the actions were forerunners to a lengthy series of suits.

New Wheat Strains May Resist Rust

Varieties Growing at Dominion Research Laboratory in Manitoba Not Affected By Disease

Winnipeg, Aug. 1.—Science, knocking down in its drive against the scourge of wheat stem rust, found evidence of success today in wheat fields at the University of Manitoba farm near here.

With increased reports of damage being done to prairie wheat fields, Dr. J. H. Craigie, officer in charge of Dominion Rust Research Laboratory here, and his assistants maintained their search for a wheat impregnable to rust spores.

Reports to Dr. Craigie yesterday and to grain companies showed rust infestation extensive in Manitoba and as far west as central Saskatchewan on a line drawn north and south through Saskatoon; Moore Jaw and the international boundary.

But still hidden was the definite effect of the rust on the 1935 crop. Dr. Craigie and others admitted "the damage would be extensive, but to what extent it will affect production will not be known until the harvest starts."

NEW STRAINS ESCAPE DAMAGE

Carrying on the drive for rust resistant wheats, the rust research laboratory planted grains, now in general use, beside new strains of rust resistant wheats at the University of Manitoba farm. Rust spores waited along by the wind stuck to the old wheats, but so far the new, unchristened strains have escaped.

An inspection of the plots showed Howard, Garnet, Marquis and other wheats affected by the rust. The red-tipped spores, some turning black, sucked the moisture and food from the wheat kernels, leaving them dry and looking more like caraway seed. The unchristened new strains of wheat immediately beside the rust-infected stalks stood firm and without infestation. Still to be learned, though, was whether they would continue to escape infestation and what their milling qualities would show.

Battle Looms For Mayoralty

Several Aldermen May Seek Higher Honors at Next Contest

As the City Council passes through its summer dog-days, civic observers turn their attention to possibilities of a mayoralty contest of proportions not seen here for some time, with the prospects of some of the aldermen leaving their council seats to enter the race for the chief magistrate's chair.

Within five months civic election activity will be in full swing. While some have definitely announced their intention of going in quest of the mayoralty, certain barometers indicate a strong swing towards a contest among men in civic office today.

According to his own statement at a recent council meeting, Mayor David Leeming "has an eye on 1936."

He has had four consecutive years in that post. No mayor, since incorporation, has served five years in a row. Whether Mayor Leeming can establish a new record or whether he will "allow his predecessor, a few of whom have held office for four years successively, will be up to the voters in December and, to a large extent, up to the calibre of the opposition he must face.

If members of the existing council entertain thoughts of testing their mayoralty timbre this year, they have kept it very well to themselves, as far as actual announcements are concerned.

HAVE DIFFERED
However, several have differed with Mayor Leeming on questions of policy to a considerable extent.

The mayor has frequently clashed with Aldermen Andrew McCallin on various subjects, including the police commission and publicity bureau questions.

Alderman Walter Luney has not always concurred with his worship on various matters, while Alderman E. R. Brown has differed for the last two years on the mill rate question.

The council has functioned with smooth co-ordination, with a few specific exceptions, during the last year or so, but not everything that passes through the minds of the men who form the senate of the city has been attained utterance.

With an unusual recurrence, requests have come in to Alderman J. D. Hunter asking him to stand for the post of mayor. Certain factions have essayed to change him from the role of alderman to that of Conservative or Reconstruction Party candidate for the federal house. To both proposals he has given a negative.

Many of the voters now have the opinion the man who led the aldermanic poll at the last elections should

Visitor From San Francisco Traces Ancestry Back Nine Centuries

Mrs. W. O. Bradbury of San Francisco, who claims to have traced her family's ancestry directly back to King Alfred the Great of Britain, is a visitor to Victoria today, staying at the Glenisland Hotel with her sister, also a Mrs. Bradbury.

This morning they visited the provincial archives, seeking trace of the Irish side of the family. Mrs. Bradbury, who has made a study of heraldry, said she had spent much time in tracing the family history, and had discovered the records right back to the early English king.

The two sisters married Bradbury brothers.

GERMANY SOON TO LAUNCH WARSHIPS

Canadian Press from Havas
London, Aug. 1.—Germany's two new 22,000-ton battleships, Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, will be the most powerful fighting ships of their size in the world when launched in the near future. The London Daily Telegraph revealed yesterday.

Heavy deck and side armor and specially-designed protection against torpedoes will protect the warcraft, while for armament they will carry 11-inch guns of a new design. The guns are able to fire rapidly and will throw a broadside of nearly sixteen tons every minute.

LIBERAL CAMPAIGN OPENS

IN THE FIRST OF THREE ADDRESSES
 He is delivering by radio Mr. Mackenzie King yesterday made clear the fundamental principles on which the party he leads will conduct its federal election campaign. He challenged the tendency, manifested during the last five years, to subordinate Parliament to a dictatorial minority interest, and declared his unalterable opposition to measures which tended towards Fascism or Communism, irrespective of the party which advocated them.

This is sound Liberal doctrine, and the speech of the Liberal leader for that reason was arrestingly reminiscent of the many eloquent utterances of Laurier on the right of the Canadian people to determine through their Parliament the policies on which they should be governed. Mr. King has ample ground for his attitude on this vital question. During the last five years we have seen the House of Commons reduced to the mediocrity of a rubber stamp; the expenditure of countless millions of the taxpayers' money without the primary approval of the taxpayers' elected representatives; the extension of the public credit to powerful corporations in similar circumstances; evidence that even the ministers of Mr. Bennett's cabinet were little more than so many clerks. The result has been a welter of policies all emanating from one source, which have not only not improved the social and economic life of Canada but have made conditions worse.

Democratic institutions have their deficiencies, but they are safer than those of Fascism, Communism or any other philosophy which can not operate without dictatorial rule. The free expression of public opinion, while inconvenient and embarrassing to some elements at times, is infinitely healthier than the blood purges, firing squads and the headmen's axe which have featured the dictatorships of Europe, most of which, happily, are now beginning to crumble.

The experience of the last five years in Canada makes it abundantly clear that government can not play the part it should play in promoting the economic recovery of the country until Parliament has been emancipated from every tendency to centralization of legislative power; until a corporal's guard of influential interests has been divested of the privilege of determining national policies. As Mr. King points out, the whole Dominion structure has been undermined by the course which has been pursued by the federal administration since 1930 and Canadian unity could not possibly stand the strain of a continuation of it.

The Liberal leader sees in the proposal of a national government merely a subtle scheme for the preservation of the power of the special interests which have been running Canada for the last five years. There can be no question of the accuracy of his views on this point. We need only examine the sources from which this proposal chiefly springs to devise an appropriate label for it. The fact that it is especially articulated at the end of the government's term of office, after province has followed province into Liberal rule, tells its own story.

Mr. King is able to call the political history of Canada as a witness to his contention of the futility of third parties. It is more than a coincidence, as he says, that these irruptions always develop under Conservative administration. This was the case with the Patrons of Industry in Ontario; with the Progressives in the prairie provinces, and it is to-day with the C.C.F. and the Reconstruction parties. They constitute so many protests against the domination of government by minority interests seeking special privileges, and invariably disappear when a Liberal government assumes office. None of them has the faintest chance of gaining power, simply because however useful they are as agencies for the expression of hostility to the existing order of things political, they could not give the country stable, efficient, experienced administration.

The Liberal leader wisely did not feature his opening address with an avalanche of campaign promises. His speech would have been less effective if he had done so. Five years ago Canada was deluged with pledges by Mr. Bennett, who promised to end unemployment at once, who declared that never, never would he permit this country to go on the dole. Mr. Stevens spoke in similar vein. The Canadian electorate is satiated with promises which never are fulfilled, whether they are made by federal or provincial leaders, especially when there is no record of past performances behind them. Mr. King has such a record—a record in which our debt was decreased by $300,000,000 in nine years; in which our trade reached a total two and a half times as large as it is to-day; in which taxation under all heads was generally a third of its present rate, and in which unemployment was less than a sixth of its existing proportion. This is a record of actual performance and entitles the Liberal leader to a favorable response throughout the country to his campaign appeals.

THOSE TREATIES

EMPEROR HAILLE SELASSIE SAYS
 Ethiopia never will consent to any foreign political or economic protectorate or to any mandate placing it under the League of Nations. In this attitude he is supported by a formidable collection of treaties. In December 13, 1906, an agreement was signed by Great Britain, France and Italy under which the signatory powers undertook to respect and endeavor to preserve the integrity of Abyssinia; to act so that industrial concessions granted to one may not injure the others; to abstain from intervention in Abyssinian internal affairs. On August 2, 1926, Italy and Abyssinia signed a treaty of friendship providing for the arbitration of all disputes for twenty years. Then, of course, there is the covenant of the League of Nations prohibiting warfare without prior arbitration, and the Kellogg pact outlawing war as an instrument of national policy. If all of those treaties are going to be violated and the League of Nations winks at the violation, there will be an end to all treaty making in the interests of peace, and also of the League of Nations.

ANOTHER TARIFF WAR

NEXT MONDAY, CANADA'S NEW
 tariff war will begin. This time it will be with Japan. The Island Kingdom, smarting under a buying scale which has meant in recent years nearly a four-dollars-to-one balance in Canada's favor, will impose a duty on Canadian imports which will make it almost impossible for them to circumvent.

Canada, by the same token, will impose a surtax of thirty-three and one-third per cent—pyramiding other import restrictions—on Japanese goods entering this country. In other words, this means that a business worth nearly $22,000,000 will be practically ruined, unless, of course, something is done about it in the meantime.

We get a fair idea of what the Japanese business-man thinks of this controversy which has been going on during the last four months from Mr. Gmjo Fujiwara, a member of the Japanese House of Peers and president of the Oji Paper Manufacturing Company of Tokyo, from an interview in Vancouver on his arrival in the Empress of Japan last Tuesday evening. He is of the opinion that Japan and Canada are both to blame for the present trade condition between the two countries; but he emphasized particularly the fact that communications of the Japanese government to the Canadian government on the trade protective measure—Japan's—were repeatedly left unacknowledged, "with the result that Japan could hardly be blamed for not being in a particularly good humor."

Mr. Fujiwara, however, dropped the hint that Japan would not suffer much if its country's export trade to Canada were lost entirely, since Japan is selling such a large amount of her commodities to other nations. He suggests that it is hardly advisable for this Dominion to protect her home industries of minor importance by imposing a prohibitive tariff on Japanese goods. "The Ottawa Citizen puts the controversy this way:

"Japan's pressure on Canada to even up the trade balance is coming at a difficult time for the government at Ottawa. The Japanese can not be blamed for thus endeavoring to get more favorable trade terms, nor can they be accused of 'blasting' a way into the Canadian market. They are merely following the well-trodden path of other nations in the tariff game. As one of the ministers in the present government at Ottawa declared a few sessions ago, tariffs are designed for use as weapons of economic war."

"Eventually Canada may be emancipated from the policy of competitive exporting, of engaging in an aggressive struggle for markets, wherein the seeds of war are sown. For the time being, however, irrespective of party, the country is governed by the belief that there can not be prosperity at home unless the Japanese, the Siamese, the Japanese, the Portuguese, the Sudanese, people anywhere but in Canada, are persuaded to import more Canadian produce."

Writing in Toronto Saturday Night, Mr. F. R. Clarke, who says, discussing all the various economic factors, the government must listen to the producers of raw materials, the largest of which in the matter of exports to Japan, "and who are now threatened with what appears to be an exterminating duty," are as follows:

Wood pulp	$242,138
Aluminum	1,590,294
Lead	1,400,411
Zinc	976,680
Nickel	951,554
Logs	894,200
Asbestos	709,401

As our total exports to Japan, The Toronto Saturday Night writer proceeds, amounted last year to $16,935,869, compared with imports of $4,424,654, it will be seen that Japan has a very good point when they compare their purchases with their sales, and it is important to note that we have a bargaining point also in the fact that at present the largest items we buy from Japan are food stuffs which we do not, ourselves, produce, but which we can purchase from other countries. The largest of these are oranges, $487,951; rice, $446,708, and tea, $329,600.

On the other hand, he goes on, Japan has ceased purchasing butter from us, which not so many years ago she did to the extent of around half a million dollars a year and if this market could be reopened it would undoubtedly be of great benefit to our farmers who are at present overloaded with butter they can not sell.

Thus we get the picture of lucrative trade with Japan, ruined by a government in this country which is merely kow-towing to special interests. As Mr. Mackenzie King said over the air last night, the only way for Canada to get back into her economic stride is by the election of a government which will stand for dictation from no privileged interests.

Just Folks

by Edgar A. Guest

THE UNHAPPY MAN

He could not find in life the joy
 Which others seemed to find.
 He fancied as a little boy
 His parents were unkind.
 Because they frequently denied
 Some selfish youthful whim,
 He turned upon them and he cried
 They had no love for him.

In school he found the teachers all
 Severely strict and stern,
 For even as a youngster small
 He wouldn't try to learn.
 And when a failure home he came,
 This would his reason be:
 "The mean old teachers are to blame.
 They always pick on me."

So whimpering through life he went,
 And whimpers still to-day,
 Believing all the hours are meant
 For pleasure and for play.
 Though others suffered grief and pain
 And saw their hopes grow dim,
 Against life's hardships he'd complain
 When trouble came to him.

Self-centred thus, he could not see
 Beyond his little day,
 Unfair he fancied all must be
 Which sent his plans astray.
 And since from hurt he couldn't hide
 No matter where he ran,
 He wailed until the day he died.
 A most unhappy man.

A method of making this country wealthy and disgusting—a plan for honest money—partly our own work—and a danger to our political institutions.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

FLUNKIES

THE GENERAL MANAGER of Canadian Pacific Hotels has told them in Vancouver that British Columbia will never do a really worthwhile tourist business until it relaxes its liquor laws and its notions of propriety a bit. If, for example, tourists could get liquor with their meals, he thinks they would come here in larger numbers.

This may be true and liquor with meals might be a more satisfactory system than beer in ghastly, evil-smelling whisky in hotel bedrooms. But the cheerful doctrine of the general manager of Canadian Pacific Hotels that we should model our liquor laws and our ideas of propriety on the taste of the American tourist, or on the notions of any other people whatever, is slightly revolting.

On the same basis, no doubt, we could attract millions of tourists if we opened Mexican border resorts in Victoria and Vancouver, with uncontrolled gambling and beautiful ladies. Large populations of Europeans make a living simply by modeling their laws and ideas of propriety on the lowest and silliest instincts of an over-privileged class. In due time, if we were to go to this business properly, all British Columbians could shortly be supported by the richest and nastiest tourists of the world. We could stand with our hands out, and an ingratulating grin, hoping for a tip from some retired sausage maker who had come here for the night life. We could become a race of highly successful flunkies, sycophants and panders. We could become a nation of bellhops, butlers and Swiss guides, and be rich.

This is not to disparage the tourist business, which is perfectly legitimate, like any other business, when conducted with the proper attitude and with some self-respect. But we should sell our scenic attractions, and the culture of our country as an honest merchant sells honest goods on their merits. If people don't want them on that basis we are better without such people. If we have got to crawl to tourists and alter our laws and civilization to give them a surreptitious fling away from home, we'd better go out of the tourist business altogether.

As a matter of fact, if we had any sense in this country at all, with its resources and natural beauty, we could build here such a civilization that the world would clamor at our gates for admission, even though we had no liquor at all and none of the conventional variety which these our grandchildren will say that their grandfathers were violently insane when they had almost every material that the human being can use, with the skill to use it, and yet had to sell their scenery to visitors in order to get along.

LUNACY

KNOW EXACTLY what is going to happen to me in the next few days, but I can't do anything about it. I know I am going to take out my flybook (fishing flies, my friend, not your household variety which carry germs) and I am going to decide that I need half a dozen new ones; no more, just half a dozen or so, before I embark on the dangerous expedition which is planned for August.

And then I am going into the sporting goods store which is run by fishermen as crazy as I am and far more scientific. And these young fellows are going to look through my flybook and shake their heads sadly, as one might do on looking at a ragged band of orphans, and tell me that I am short in Jock Scotts and Royal Coachmen and March Browns. And I, reckless as a drunkard setting up the drinks for the crowd, will tell them to go ahead and fill up the gaps.

After all, what is a fifteen-cent fly more or less?

And they will show me new lures, just invented, weird contraptions such as fine the imagination of anglers and make them see visions and speak in strange tongues. And I shall leave with $5 or $6 worth of fly hooks and lures that I shall never use.

My flybook already is full of fly hooks and lures that I shall never use, the true mark of the fisherman. If you want to look like a scientific angler and gain the admiration of your friends, always carry a lot of flies that you never use. It does give you a reputation as a dashing, devilish sort of fellow. And you can always carry a box of worms well hidden in your back pocket if you want to catch fish.

Some men collect stamps, which is idiotic, but harmless. Others go mad about golf, which is a bore to their friends. Others are insane about bridge, which is often expensive. Others talk politics on street corners and some write letters to the editor on evolution. All men have their soft spot of lunacy, if they are sane. If you find one who has none, is thoroughly sane on all things, have nothing to do with him. He will end up in an asylum or on the gallows, the world well rid of him.

But of all the soft spots of lunacy, the lunacy of fishermen is the softest (and therefore the most respectable). The fever comes on with grim regularity about this time of the year, being affected, like all forms of lunacy, by the moon. But at least when we fishermen are overcome by a fit we are not like your golfers, bridge players and collectors. We don't parade it before our friends and talk about it obscenely on the streets. We flee into the wilderness and suffer in silence.

ON THE AIR

THE LEADERS of the two chief parties in the federal election propose to use the radio extensively. The use of the radio is a fine thing, to enable all Canadians to listen in on the discussions of their public affairs. Two will spare the party leaders a lot of physical wear and tear which they can ill afford.

Nevertheless, there are limits to radio campaigning, or ought to be. The radio undoubtedly gives a distorted impression of the orator and the electors are certainly entitled to see the man who is to govern them at first hand. On the radio a man may seem superb when, in reality, he is a dub. On the other hand, many a great man sounds absurd on the air. For example, when Premier Bennett was announcing his late lamented reform programme on the air last spring, you would have thought that he was heading a triumphant new government, sweeping on to victory and the salvation of the public. You would never have suspected that he was the head of a broken old government making a deathbed repentance.

When Mr. Roosevelt was giving his fireside talks a year or so ago, you would have thought that everything in the United States was lovely and that the president had just to sit by his fireside and watch the depression blow away; whereas it turns out now that most of the New Deal was blowing away when the President was most charming and most confident.

You never really know a man, if you only talk to him on the telephone. You hear who roars "Hello!" like an angry bull and cut you off short with a vicious click, are quiet human when you see them in person, while some of the most alluring voices on the wire come from fellows who are just trying to sell you shares in the Golden Cairn mine. In the same way, he never knows a fellow if you only hear him on the radio either.

One is glad that the new premier is going to make platform speeches as well. If the radio campaign were allowed to go too far we should undoubtedly end by electing the best voice to be premier. We should have

WARNING!

The Times urges its correspondents to restrict their contributions to 600 words. Henceforth it positively will not print communications which exceed that length.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the names and addresses of the writers, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them.

Letters containing offensive personal reflections will not be printed. These rules, which henceforth will be carried out absolutely, are designed as much for the protection of our readers as for that of The Times.

CAUTION!

The Times will not assume responsibility for the return to the writers of articles sent for publication in the Correspondence Column or anywhere else in this newspaper, whether they are published or not, unless they have been specially solicited.

MURDER WILL OUT

To the Editor:—Murder in the mailing room! X usually marks where the body was found, but in this mystery a sinister bloody smear identifies the spot.

Yesterday the postman brought home-town news in the July 24 issue of The Victoria Daily Times carrying a front-page account of the Dominion Government's decision to release 50,000 parasites to wage war on earwigs. Hardly any crime motive in that story.

But, believe it or not, there, sprawled on the sixth column of your front page and stuck to the sixth paragraph of the item mentioned was the corpse of a well-developed and shiny adult earwig, which, judging from the degree of rigor mortis, had been much alive in your mailing room July 24.

Moreover, deducing from the posture of the body, the unfortunate traveler was in the act of reading the bad news when death stalked him. Maybe scientific investigation would contradict the murder theory. Perhaps Mr. Clarence Earwig could not read and did not know a front-page story from a classified ad. If that is true, then Mr. Earwig perhaps stored away in your wrapper as a sort of hitch-hiker to California to

BEAUTIFUL SCENERY AT FULFORD HARBOR, SALT SPRING ISLAND

Miniature Mountain Resort At Shawnigan

Many Trails to Explore; Fishing, Boating and Swimming

Interesting roads and interesting places are not always found by way of the main highways. It is the little, dipping side roads dancing away over the hills that lead sometimes to holiday spots beyond one's most magnificent dreams. Such roads well reward the vacation seeker if he will but explore.

The Shawnigan Lake road near the summit of the Malahat calls many to a perfect holiday land. It leads away from the main highway in a wide and curving sweep that circles back and beyond into the very heart of the high hills. To follow its enticing dips and hollows is to leave behind the salt air of the sea and to breathe instead the spicy perfume of the pines; to leave sea level and at an altitude of 800 feet find all the benefits of an invigorating mountain resort.

Shawnigan Lake, a brilliant, blue-green gem that shines and dances in the light of the summer sun, is cradled in a fold of the hills. It is four and three-quarter miles long and at its widest about three-quarters of a mile. At the southern end are many small islands. To the north the valley broadens and the waters slip into the quiet north arm. It is here, that, hidden among the willows, the waters search for freedom in a small creek that wanders away to the sea.

FOREST INN

Just beyond the north arm, among the pines close to the water's edge is Forest Inn, one of the finest resorts on Vancouver Island. The big, cream-colored main building and its adjoining sleeping quarters finished in rustic style, fit perfectly into a setting of tall green trees and blue summer skies. Within, the spacious lounge with its great stone fireplace, emanates an atmosphere of restful ease. Guests at Forest Inn find there a charming hospitality that makes the longest holiday at Shawnigan seem all too short. In connection with this very fine resort, a cleverly laid out mable nine-hole course has been made and there is also a very fine tennis court. Bats and canoes of every sort are at the hotel landing for the pleasure of guests. There are saddle horses, too, and bathing in the Forest Inn Bay is considered about the warmest and best on the lake.

Added to its many other attractions, the Forest Inn possesses a rare and unusual collection of Chinese prints and porcelains. Every piece has a story... dainty and exquisite, weird or unusual. To those who are interested, Mr. Mason Hurley, whose prized possessions these are, will spend many pleasant moments telling of his treasures.

Shawnigan Lake offers the visiting vacationist a diversified programme of sports. Around the lake shore are tempting paths that lead back into the cool green depths of the hills; in the lake, fine mountain trout are there to tempt the skill of fishermen; there is boating and swimming and riding... or one can sit on the shore and watch the changing play of light and shadow the whole long day through. Something to please everyone, and all only a short thirty miles away from Victoria.

ROSEDALE

Nestling among the trees above the northern end of the lake is Rosedale Inn, a smaller guest house that caters to a limited number of visitors only. This semi-private guest house offers the quiet beauty of a private cottage. It is restful and wholesome and Mrs. Winters, its smiling proprietress, stresses the perfection of her home-cooked food.

Whether a week-end is spent at Shawnigan or a longer summer vacation, the lake is always regrettably left behind when the time comes to depart. The calm beauty of its waters, and the moving perfection of the sunsets is a never-forgotten memory of those who once visit this miniature mountain resort.

Fulford Harbor a Charming Resort

Salt Spring Island—the largest of the islands known as the Gulf Islands—is an ideal place to spend a vacation and visitors will be enamored by its natural scenic beauty. Easily accessible from Victoria it is fast becoming a favorite holiday spot, not only for a short week-end but for the long lazy days of the yearly vacation.

Everyone has their own favorite beauty spot on Salt Spring Island, and there are many—but there is no doubt that one of the best known and well liked is Fulford Harbor. It is so easily accessible—a short motor run over smooth roads to Swartz Bay on the Sanich peninsula, then a pleasant few minutes on the "Cy Peck" over smooth blue water and between tiny green islands. The trip is all too soon over, but the pleasure seeker soon finds there are even better things to come.

Fulford Harbor, is a long inlet of the sea that extends well back into the southern end of Salt Spring. To the very foot of the great Burgoyne Valley. It has a charm all its own, not only of beauty unspoiled, but of peace.

There are many attractions for those who love the smiling beauty of sunshine and country. The hiking is unexcelled, over 100 miles of good roads crossing and re-crossing the island, passing through beautiful woodlands and beside still lakes. There are steep trails to follow, the climb up Mount Bruce to the forestry look-out providing the visitor with an excellent panoramic view of the Strait of Georgia and the coast line of Vancouver Island for many miles.

FISHING GOOD

In season, the fishing around Fulford Harbor cannot be excelled. Trout fishing in the lakes and salmon fishing in the sea give sport to the most ardent fisherman.

For the accommodation of vacationists and holiday seekers, Fulford Inn, overlooking the harbor, is a modern, up-to-date resort where guests are assured of perfect service and attention. Nestled in the setting of green trees and well matured orchard, this rambling white house presents more the appearance of a great private dwelling. It keeps an excellent table, many of its supplies—fresh vegetables and fruit, cream and lamb, coming from the well-kept farms of the Burgoyne Valley. There is an excellent clay tennis court at the Inn and also a nine hole putting green. The rooms are comfortable and clean and the wide lounge presents an aspect of restful peace. Of interest to many Victorians is the fact that Mr. George Kingsley, the new proprietor of Fulford Inn, is an old J.B.A.A. man, famous a few years ago far up and down the Pacific coast for his athletic prowess. Now his pleasant smile welcomes new friends and old to a perfect spot for a happy vacation.

BUS EXCURSIONS FOR WEEK-END

Another special excursion is being run by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines on Saturday next to Vancouver. Coaches leave the Broughton Street depot at a quarter to eight in the morning for the Terminal City, and after an interesting journey on the Sidney-Silverton ferry and the Vancouver Interurban, passengers arrive there at one in the afternoon.

Passengers leave Vancouver at six o'clock in the evening on the return trip after five hours in the city, and arrive back in Victoria at eleven o'clock at night.

Also on Saturday, a delightful trip by land and sea to Friday Harbor is offered—this fascinating port in the American Gulf Islands, being very popular with Victoria residents.

On Sunday next, a varied list of excursion points is being featured. Jorday River, the only point on the open Pacific that may be reached by road from Victoria, is the terminus of one excursion, while other trips are being run to Qualicum Beach, Newcastle Island, Shawnigan Lake, Sooke Harbor and the new Goldstream Park.

Owing to the popularity of these low-fare excursions, passengers are requested to purchase their tickets in advance whenever possible in order to avoid disappointment.

Pirates of Venus

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright, 1935

"Of course not!" she snapped. "I am not yet nineteen." I wondered that it had never before occurred to me that the girl in the garden of the long might be already married.

"I did not know what that had to do with it, but I was glad to learn that she was not 700 years old. I had often wondered about her age, though after all it could have made no difference, since on Venus, if any where in the universe, people are really as old as they look—I mean, as far as their attractiveness is concerned."

"Are you going?" she demanded. "Or shall I have to call one of the Vepajans and tell them that you have affronted me?" I asked. "No, you cannot make me believe that you would ever do that."

"Then I shall leave," she stated, "and remember that you are never to see me or speak to me again."

With that parting shot, far from cheering ultimatum she quit the room, going into another of her suite. That appeared to end the interview; I could not very well follow her, and so I turned and made my way disconsolately to the captain's cabin in the lower."

As I thought the matter over, it became obvious to me that I not only had not made much progress in my suit, but that there was little likelihood that I ever should. There seemed to be some insuperable barrier between us, though what it was I could not believe that she was entirely indifferent to me; but perhaps that was just a reflection of my egoism, for I had to admit that she had certainly made it plain enough both by words and acts that she wished to have nothing to do with me. I was unquestionably persona non grata.

Notwithstanding all this, or maybe because of it, I realized that this second and longer interview had but served to raise my love to still greater fervor, leaving me in a fine state of despair. Her new presence on board the Sofal was constantly provocative, while her interdiction of any relations between us only tended to make me more anxious to be with her.

I was most unhappy, and the monotony of the now uneventful voyage back toward Vepaja offered no means of distraction. I wished that they might sight another vessel, for any ship that we sighted would be an enemy ship. We were outlaws, we of the Sofal—pirates, buccaners, privateers. I rather leaned toward the last most polite definition of our status. Of course we had not as yet been commissioned by Minter to raid shipping for Vepaja, but we were striking Vepaja's enemies, and so I felt that we had some claim upon the dubious respectability of privateering. However, either of the two titles would not have greatly impressed me. Buccaners has a devil-may-care ring to it that appeals to my fancy; it has a trifle more haut ton than pirate.

There is much in a name. I had liked the name of the Sofal from the first. Perhaps it was the psychology of that name that suggested the career upon which I was now launched. It means killer. The very meaning of it is fatal. The prefix so has the same value as the suffix er in English; so Sofal means killer. Vong is the Antorian word for defense; therefore, Sofal means the name of our first prize, means defender; but the Sofal had not lived up to her name.

I was still meditating on names in an effort to forget Duare, when Kamlot joined me, and I decided to take the opportunity to ask him some questions concerning certain Antorian customs that regulated the social intercourse between men and maidens. He opened a way to the subject by asking me if I had seen Duare since she sent for me.

"I saw her," I replied, "but I do not understand her attitude, which suggested that it was almost a crime for me to look at her."

"It would be under ordinary circumstances," he told me, "but of course, as I explained to you before, what she and we have passed through has temporarily at least minimized the importance of certain time-honored Vepajan laws and customs."

"Vepajan girls attain their majority at the age of twenty; prior to that they may not form a union with a man. The custom, which has almost the force of a law, places even greater restrictions upon the daughters of a long. They may not even see or speak to any man other than their blood relatives and a few well-chosen retainers until after they have reached their twentieth birthday. Should they transgress it would mean dishonor for them and death for the man."

"What a fool law!" I ejaculated, but I realized at last how heinous my transgression must have appeared in the eyes of Duare.

Kamlot shrugged. "It may be a fool law," he said, "but it is still the law; and in the case of Duare its enforcement means much to Vepaja, for she is the hope of Vepaja."

I had heard that title conferred upon her before, but it was meaningless to me. "Just what do you mean by saying that she is the hope of Vepaja?" I asked.

"She is Minter's only child. He has never had a son, though a hundred women have sought to bear him one. The life of the dynasty ends if Duare bears no son, then it is essential that the father of that son be one fitted to be the father of a long."

"Have they selected the father of her children yet?" I asked.

"Of course not," replied Kamlot. "The matter will not even be broached until after Duare has passed her twentieth birthday."

"And she is not even nineteen yet," I remarked with a sigh.

"No," agreed Kamlot, eyeing me closely, "but you act as though that fact were of importance to you."

"It is," I admitted.

"What do you mean?" he demanded.

"I intend to marry Duare!" Kamlot leaped to his feet and whipped out his sword. It was the first time that I had ever seen him show such marked excitement. I thought he was going to kill me on the spot.

"Defend yourself!" he cried. "I cannot kill you until you draw."

"Just why do you wish to kill me at all?" I demanded. "Have you gone crazy?"

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

OPPORTUNITY TO PUT UP TENDER BABY BEETS MUST BE SEIZED EARLY IN GARDEN SEASON

By MARY E. DAGUE

It seems there are always fresh beets in the markets these days, but summer's the only time when baby beets are available. If I don't put up some of these deliciously tender roots, I'm sure to regret it, for they have a sweetness all their own.

Aside from this baby beets are ideal for home canning. Less perishable than most vegetables, they do not lose flavor through delay in canning.

Even canning is particularly suitable. Heat to 975 degrees F. while packing the vegetables. I add lemon juice to preserve the bright color and to prevent spoiling since non-acid vegetables require the addition of acid.

In preparing beets for canning, slice or dice large ones ready for serving. Can the small baby beets whole. For serving, reheat in butter or a tart sauce.

SCRUB BEETS WITH BRUSH Wash beets thoroughly, using a vegetable brush. Cut off tops, leaving about two inches of stem. Take care not to break the skin nor cut the long straight tap root. Drop into a kettle of boiling water and boil twenty or thirty minutes. Dip into cold water and slip off skins. Pack in hot sterilized jars, adding 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar and 1 teaspoon lemon juice to each pint jar. Double the amount of salt, sugar and lemon juice for quart jars.

Add enough boiling water to fill jars within an inch of the top. Half seal and place in preheated oven. Leave two hours, remove from oven and completely seal. Invert for a few minutes to be sure the seal is perfect, then place upright and let stand until cool.

As soon as a jar is filled, place it in the oven and keep jars about two inches apart to allow for circulation of heat around each jar. Two racks, one above the other, may be used if the oven is large enough. Work fast and dip beets in cold water only long enough to slip skins, not long enough to chill them. The hotter the beets are when they are put in the jars the better.

Pickled beets are very easy to prepare and are delightful as garnishes for salads. I remember that the old Parker House in Boston always garnished lobster salad with thin slices of pickled beet in tiny amounts and completely sealed. It was the most delicious lobster salad I've ever tasted.

To make pickled beets choose beets about the size of a golf ball and boil until tender. Slip skin, cut in thin slices and pack carefully in sterilized jars. Pour over them boiling sweetened vinegar, filling jars full to overflowing and seal at once.

I use one-half cup light brown sugar and 2 teaspoons salt to one quart of vinegar. If you like spices add whole cloves and stick cinnamon in the proportions of one ounce of cloves and 2 long sticks of cinnamon broken in inch pieces. Heat the spices with sugar and vinegar.

Breakfast: Orange juice, cereal cooked with dates, cream, oven toast, milk, coffee.

Lunch: Main dish macaroni salad, Boston brown bread and butter sandwiches, honeyball melon filled with mint sherbet, milk, tea.

Dinner: Broiled lamb chops, scalloped potatoes, baby beets in ring mold of beet greens, salad of shredded cabbage,okra, tomato, pineapple cheese cake, milk, coffee.

EX-FOLLIES STAR FACING RELIEF

A former Follies star once hailed by Florenz Ziegfeld as the "highest paid" Jessie Reed, thirty-eight, shown above in Chicago, who numbers millionaires among her four ex-husbands, is broke.

She admitted she might have to apply to Chicago relief bodies for assistance as she faced eviction from a $5-a-week hotel room, but has now secured a job in a chorus.

She is Minter's only child. He has never had a son, though a hundred women have sought to bear him one. The life of the dynasty ends if Duare bears no son, then it is essential that the father of that son be one fitted to be the father of a long."

"Have they selected the father of her children yet?" I asked.

Miss Phyllis Penderay, whose marriage to Mr. Frederick E. Manning of Sprout Lake will take place this month, was the guest of Mrs. C. E. Blaney entertained at a novel miscellaneous shower yesterday afternoon. The lovely gifts were piled on a miniature boom of logs, which was being pulled across a cleverly constructed replica of Sprout Lake towards the lumber mill, with which Miss Penderay's fiancé, Mr. Frederick Manning, is connected. Summer flowers were used throughout the rooms, and the prettily-appointed table was arranged with a white table cloth, the centerpiece being white gladioli and white carnations with feathery green ferns. Mrs. Blaney's guests included Mrs. J. Carl Penderay, Mrs. B. J. Cummins (Vancouver), Mrs. W. Allan Penderay, Mrs. Keith Dorman and Misses Eileen Penderay, Eileen Tomlin, Kathleen Sheret, Yvette Cross, Marlene Merrick, Helen Crawford, Alvin Bruhn, Kathleen Wilson, Ethel Bala, Frances Jones, Ruth Moore, Marianne Fraser, Gwendolyn Watkins, Margaret Watson, June and Kathryn Herren, Lorraine Penderay, Sheila Sinclair, Lois Herren and Dorothy Clark.

Following the ceremony, the bride party and guests repaired to the "Mystic Spring" where the guests were welcomed by the parents of the bride and groom. Mrs. Inglis wore a dress of Marine blue, and a matching hat, and Mrs. Bennett was in pale blue, and they both wore corsage bouquets of pink carnations.

Pink and white decorations enhanced the setting, the bride and groom standing beneath a huge white wedding bell to receive the felicitations of their friends.

A four-tiered cake, surmounted by a silver vase of bridled roses and ferns, made by the bride's mother, centred the table, from which a buffet supper was served by girl friends of the bride, including Misses Dorothy Morson, Gwen Williams, Barbara Talbot, Joan Smith and Muriel and Phyllis Winterbottom.

After a honeymoon on the mainland, for which the bride left in a smart blue suit and white accessories, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will live at Cadboro Bay.

HANDSOME GIFTS

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. Bentley and Miss Ellen Bentley of Winnipeg; Mr. E. Smith and Master Glenn Priestley of Edmonton, and Miss Marion Salmon of Calgary.

Young Church Workers Principals In Wedding

Miss Winnifred Inglis Married at St. Mary's to Mr. Geo. Bennett; Reception at "Mystic Spring"

In the presence of a large congregation, the marriage was solemnized at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, yesterday evening of Winnifred, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Inglis, of "Mystic Spring," Cadboro Bay, and Mr. George Bennett, only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Bennett, 2330 Esplanade Avenue.

Rev. Canon A. E. del. Nunn performed the ceremony, and the nuptial music was played by Mr. F. T. C. Wickett, the church organist.

SISTERS BRIDESMAIDS

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was an attractive figure in her graceful gown of white silk lace, made with a corset, her veil of filmy net being caught to the head beneath a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations, sweet peas and Ophelia roses tied with white satin ribbon.

Her two sisters, the Misses Dorothy and Gladys Inglis, were bridesmaids, wearing frocks of frilled organza, in green and yellow, respectively, with long flared skirts and frilly capes. Their accessories were white, and they carried bouquets of flowers in harmonizing shades. The best man was Mr. Elrick Woods, and the ushers were Mr. Stanley Cooper, cousin of the groom, and Mr. Harry Hayward.

RECEPTION AT "MYSTIC SPRING"

Following the ceremony, the bride party and guests repaired to the "Mystic Spring" where the guests were welcomed by the parents of the bride and groom. Mrs. Inglis wore a dress of Marine blue, and a matching hat, and Mrs. Bennett was in pale blue, and they both wore corsage bouquets of pink carnations.

HANDSOME GIFTS

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. Bentley and Miss Ellen Bentley of Winnipeg; Mr. E. Smith and Master Glenn Priestley of Edmonton, and Miss Marion Salmon of Calgary.

Among the beautiful gifts were a silver vase from the groom's associates at Mr. W. M. Carmichael's silverware establishment; a silver tea service from Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael; blankets and linen pillow cases from St. Mary's branch of the A.Y.P.A., of which the groom is president; a silver cake basket from the officers and members of the Victoria and District Local Council of the A.Y.P.A., to which the bride and groom both belong, and a silver rose bowl from their fellow-teachers and pupils of St. Mary's Sunday school.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Patterson, St. Patrick Street, Oak Bay, left this afternoon for the mainland on a visit to West Vancouver. Mr. Patterson will return to Victoria in a couple of weeks' time, while Mrs. Patterson will remain on the mainland for the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Taylor, Cook Street, will leave on Sunday for Powell River to visit for a couple of weeks with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Douglas of Powell River who are spending the summer at their country home some distance from Powell River.

Miss E. J. Herbert, R.N., returned to Victoria yesterday after spending the last month in Vancouver, during which she took the refresher course for nurses at the University of British Columbia. The course was arranged at the suggestion of the Graduate Nurses' Association of B.C. and proved so popular that 220 nurses from all parts of British Columbia and the prairies availed themselves of its lectures.

A number of Denvertites are enjoying holidays of varying duration in Victoria. Mrs. Henri de Compiegne and her sister, Mrs. William Montgomery, who recently were joined by their husbands, are so enchanted with Victoria that they have taken a house here and do not expect to return to their home in the United States until the beginning of September. Mrs. Eugene Dines and children are occupying a house here and Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Knowles recently arrived in Victoria for a stay of several weeks.

Mrs. W. Langley, 645 Michigan Street, has just received the sad news of the death of her father, Mr. Senior Whitley, on July 27, at Manchester, England. The late Mr. Whitley was eighty-four years of age and was survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. Langley, Victoria, and Mrs. E. O. Jones, Manchester, and four grandchildren, Muriel and Gilbert Langley, Victoria, and Gwen and Raymond Jones, of Manchester. He was interred in Holbeck (Leeds) Cemetery on July 30. The late Mr. Whitley was the last of the Whitleys who started the Acme Cycle Co. in Leeds in the '90s. He retired from business several years ago, but himself rode a bicycle until almost eighty-one.

Mrs. J. E. W. Oland, Mrs. C. D. Donald, Mrs. J. W. Roy and Mrs. H. P. Pullen went over to Seattle to join their husbands for the International Naval ball given at the Hotel Olympic yesterday evening in honor of the officers of H.M.C.S. Skeena and H.M.C.S. Vancouver and other vessels in Seattle for the annual naval week. Commander J. E. W. Oland of the Skeena represented the Canadian navy in the receiving line at the ball. Prior to the function the Canadian officers and their wives were guests at a dinner given by Mr. Frank Wilbur Hull, fleet entertainment committee chairman, and Mrs. Hull, at the hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Roland Chastley, formerly of Victoria, also entertained at a barbecue beach supper at their summer home at Yarrow, in honor of twelve of the Canadian officers. During the Christy party Mrs. Del Burkhardt, West Coast women's badminton champion, gave an exhibition of the game.

Bridegrooms Must Placate "In-laws"

Associated Press
Manitou, Colo., Aug. 1.—Dr. Thomas Richmond's advice to the bridegrooms is to "get acquainted with your in-laws. Make friends with them."
The little grey-haired doctor from Kansas City, Kas., ought to know about this in-law business. He's spending approximately $100 a day to provide a two-weeks' vacation for twenty-five of his wife's relatives.
"You'll be delighted to see what nice folks they are and how much more enjoyment you'll get out of marriage," he continued.

League of Nations Fete Attracted Many Guests

Premier Pattullo Opens Delightful Affair at Miss Agnew's; Mayor and Dean Speak; Many Attractions

Despite the heavy shower which marred the later hours of the affair, the League of Nations garden fete held at "Schubuum" yesterday afternoon was an enjoyable function, attracting many guests, including a number of out-of-town visitors.

PREMIER SPEAKS
Premier Pattullo formally opened the affair, wishing the committee every success in its efforts.

In his brief address, the Premier touched upon the present crisis in the affairs of the League and the general trend towards war preparation, with its consequent unsettling effect upon economic conditions throughout the world.

Mayor Leeming also spoke, commending the work of the League, but expressing his opinion that its efforts would not come to fruition until the United States entered the League. Christian ethics must also be introduced into the conduct of nations and into international relations, he emphasized, before the ideal of world peace and understanding could be achieved.

Dean Quanton, president of the local branch, thanked Miss Agnew for her gracious hospitality, and took the occasion to allude briefly to the League's efforts to avert the crisis between Italy and Ethiopia.

Mr. A. S. Averill, organizing secretary of the League of Nations Society in Victoria, headed the reception committee. Much of the success of the affair was due to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Bertha Parsons, the general convener.

Huge multi-colored parasols and gay stalls erected on the various lawns vied with the color of the flower beds, and made an attractive setting for the many attractions.

VARIED PROGRAMME
Variety was the keynote of the attractive programme, arranged by Mrs. J. Willis, and the games and other diversions, entertainment being provided to suit every taste.

On the upper lawn, was staged the programme of dances by pupils of Miss Dorothy Cox and Miss Mona Jewell. Miss Cox's pupils included a duet, "Violets," by Ann Crowther and Joy Groves, followed by "Gypsy Boy," by Muriel Unthoff. Other numbers were "Mercury," given by a recitation, Joy Groves; a doll dance by Ann Crowther; "Fanchette," by Muriel Unthoff; "The Fairy and the Elf," by Hilda Newton and Ann Crowther, and "The Archer," by Gwen Cox.

Pupils of Miss Mona Jewell appeared in English, Irish and Scottish dances in addition to a pasodance and other solo numbers. The children taking part was as follows: Irish Jig, Vera, Hazel and Joan Pearson; sailors' hornpipe, solo, Jean McGrath; group, Robina Prior, Dorothy Kermode, Kathleen Stromkins, Ena Foyer, Ruby Foster and Joyce Woodfield.

In the Indian dance was Cecilia Gagnon; Russian dance, Thelma Whyte; Highland Fling, Vina Whyte; gypsy dance, Hazel Pearson, and clown dance, Joan Pearson, Kathleen Stromkins, Ena Foyer, Ruby Foster and Joyce Woodfield.

The Indian dance was Cecilia Gagnon; Russian dance, Thelma Whyte; Highland Fling, Vina Whyte; gypsy dance, Hazel Pearson, and clown dance, Joan Pearson, Kathleen Stromkins, Ena Foyer, Ruby Foster and Joyce Woodfield.

Stromkins, Vera Pearson, Dorothy Kermode and Robina Foyer.

A group of acrobats from the Y.M.C.A., under the direction of Archie McKinnon, gave a clever exhibition of tumbling, which was warmly applauded.

TEA IN GARDEN

The rose garden, with its tall privet hedges, made an attractive alfresco tea room. Mrs. Alan Campbell was the convener, and was assisted by Mrs. G. W. Hamilton, Mrs. W. T. Strath, Mrs. W. K. Willis, Mrs. H. B. Billingsley, Mrs. H. D. Parizeau, Mrs. M. W. Thomas, Mrs. Gordon Hartley, Miss Beverley Grant, Miss Kay Johnson, Miss Isabelle Gibson, Miss May Wootton, Miss Dulce Hamlet, Miss Doreen Daniel, Miss Marjorie Vincent and Miss Elizabeth Campbell.

OTHER FEATURES

Mrs. Christian Borup, Mrs. Berryman and Miss Berryman, in becoming wails, had charge of the interesting exhibition of Indian curios; a novelty stall was in charge of Mrs. Bagley, Miss Agnew, Mrs. G. M. Weir, Mrs. Muttibury and Mrs. A. Carmichael; Mrs. K. Palmer had charge of the cake-guessing contest.

Miss Mathieson had charge of the ice cream and lemonade stall; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Holmes and Mrs. G. A. Watson directed the games; Mrs. Parsons and Miss Eaton had charge of advertising; Mr. A. H. Pinlison, assisted by Messrs. Pollard, M. Harrison and Maurice, were in charge of the gate receipts, and Miss Joy Phillips was convener of the home-made candy stall.

Miss Russell, Miss Benham and Miss Bowron had charge of a table of literature devoted to the League of Nations; Mrs. F. G. Aldous was convener of the competitions, and Miss Barbara Riden assisted in the capacity of assistant secretary. Mrs. S. MacLure, with her lightning sketches, was much in demand.

Another popular attraction was Gypsyland, where, under large colored umbrellas, Mesdames Songhurst, Youssie Frampton, Johnson, Robertson and Pilgrim assisted those wishing to have a peep into the future.

Mrs. Grace Deaville and Miss Georgina Herd were conveners of this feature.

THE WINNERS
The clock golf, in charge of Mrs. Alex. Gillespie, was won by: First ladies, Mrs. Pocock; second, the Mrs. A. B. Saunders and Mrs. Nickson; gentlemen, first, Mr. Hobbs; second, Mr. Stansbury W. Holmes. Mrs. M. E. Hartley won the cake, guessing its exact weight, 9 pounds 4 1/2 ounces; Mrs. W. H. Parsons won the vase, and Mrs. F. H. Parsons the picture.

The cake is awaiting the winner at MacLure's Bakery, while the other prizes may be obtained at the League of Nations committee rooms, 1006 Fort Street.

Miss Betty Potter was in charge of the pony rides, which proved popular with the young people, and Mrs. Stanley Whitehead and Miss Margaret Mollor supervised the bowling.

Among the many helpers were a number of Girl Guides, whose services were much appreciated.

Enrico Caruso's memorial candle, which was sixteen feet high, five feet in circumference, and weighed one ton when first lighted, is burned one day each year—All Saints Day—and will last eighteen centuries, it is said.

TENNIS CHAMPION HAPPY

Admitting that her victory over Helen Jacobs, U.S. women's tennis champion, in the Wimbledon tournament was "the greatest pleasure of my life," Helen Willis Moody confessed on her return to New York that she had not expected to get beyond the semi-finals when she went abroad to stage her comeback. Her calm delight lights up this excellent new shipboard portrait.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

BABIES DESERVE TO HAVE DIETS PLANNED WITH CARE

The sick baby needs a doctor. The well baby whose ailments indicate a need for changes in the diet does not deserve to be experimented upon. It is deplorable for mothers to get into the habit of dosing babies with patent medicines, because reading the advertisements makes it seem that the medicine fits their case.

Here is a three months old baby weighing thirteen pounds. It has an excellent formula of lactic acid, evaporated milk. The mother claims that the baby is constipated and acts hungry after finishing its bottle which consists of feedings every four hours of thirteen ounces of evaporated milk, two tablespoons of syrup, seventy-eight drops lactic acid and enough boiled water to make five six-ounce feedings.

BABIES NEED SUGAR
The baby spits up orange juice when it is given separately but takes it along with the formula. "Shall I offer it in two bottles when I increase it?" asks the mother. "What shall I do for a cold? I think the baby got this because she was constipated. May I give her lime water in place of cod liver oil? One of my friends gives her baby this."

The baby's constipation would probably disappear immediately and satisfaction in the formula be more profound were it to contain the ordinary amount of syrup. Breast milk is very sweet, cow's milk not so much so, proving, one feels sure, that babies need more sugar than do calves.

ADD SYRUP
Add three, then four, then five tablespoons of syrup to the formula and note the baby's reaction to each change. Stop when the movements indicate their reaction to the increased nutrition. Add the orange juice to one or more bottles. This is a good way in which to give it.

You may have the leaflets, "Home Care of a Cold," and "Evaporated Milk Formula," for a self-addressed and stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper. Colic are the result of cold germs—not of constipation.

The lime water is not a substitute for cod liver oil. The baby's milk contains rich supplies of lime and if baby gets enough of this daily, his needs are satisfied. But, despite the food supply, unless the body has plenty of sunshine it may not be able to make proper use of it.

The cod liver oil is a substitute for sunlight. It, too, increases the ability of the body to store calcium in the bones, teeth and nervous system where it is needed. The addition of lime water decreases the acidity of the cow's milk—but boiling the milk serves this same purpose and is a more desirable method of accomplishing this.

What One Girl Wore

By BETTY BROWNLEE

There is hardly a woman who does not love chiffon for comfort and flattering softness, but at the same time has more or less shied away from frocks in this fabric because in the past most of them have been too "fussy."

Their flaring skirts and flowing sleeves, even for afternoon occasions, have been such dressy looking affairs that they hinted too generally of the garden party to be practical. Designers must have realized this need for afternoon frocks in chiffon which did not make one feel dressed up "like a Christmas tree," for this season's showings include some grand numbers which are both tailored and dressy at the same time.

A frock which manages to be both tailored and dressy is this pleated chiffon for afternoon wear. In a lovely print which has a rose-red design on a creamy white background, contrast of both color and fabric is provided in the collar and belt which are of dark red linen.

They come in lovely flowered patterns and also in plain colors, the prints predominating, however.

The trick which the designers have employed to eliminate the "fussiness" of these frocks is an ingenious one. The secret is in pleating. Nearly all of the new chiffons have stitched pleats from top to bottom, with the pleating turned loose from the stitching at the knees.

Besides the walking freedom which this treatment gives, pleating is an important fashion note this season and lends character and body to chiffon especially.

Typical of the vogue in chiffons is the frock sketched to-day. Its print is especially lovely, with rose-red figures on a creamy white background and the entire dress is pleated, being stitched above the waist and to the knees.

The smart square collar is of dark red linen, matching the belt, which provides striking contrast both in color and fabric. This dress is ideal for afternoon occasions in either town or country and will prove a valuable item in the summer wardrobe.

Foresters Hold Annual Picnic

About 250 Attended Sports at Fraternal Event in Goldstream Park

The Ancient Order of Foresters joint picnic and sports was held last Sunday at Goldstream Park, upwards of 250 attending. Coach Lines buses conveyed the people to the picnic grounds and many accepted the opportunity of seeing the new park. BATTLE ON OVER SKIRT LENGTHS

Associated Press

Paris, Aug. 1.—A contest over skirt lengths furnished the fashion fireworks to-day at the winter style shows.

After Chanel showed the shortest skirts seen in Paris for several seasons, Louise Boulanger lowered her wide, scalloped hems to seven inches from the ground, while other designers cut them to twelve inches from the floor.

The final edict awaited next week's showings, although some stylists said women themselves may settle the matter by plucking the hems where they seemed most becoming in individual cases.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

HAD THE GENTLEMAN in the bowler hat who asked the Florida Girl the famous question, "Are there any more at home like you?" been any more at home like you? been a witness at the United States women's A.A.U. swimming championships, he would have found that there were quite a few more, but that they didn't stay home, but, to the contrary swarmed on Manhattan Beach, N.Y., to help keep the laurels in the families.

There were the Rawls sisters of Fort Lauderdale—bobbed-haired Katherine, Evelyn and the youngest and curly-haired Dorothy.

There were the Brooklyn sisters, Elizabeth and Erna Kompa; and the now famous Hoeger girls, of Miami, eleven-year-old and seventeen-year-old Mary, the youngest person ever to win a United States title, of any kind, Ruth and Helen.

It perhaps is just as well for the mermals of other lands that Lenore Knight of Homestead, Pa., hasn't a sister who swims anywhere near as well as she does. For between stocky Miss Knight, the freestyle luminary who has succeeded the record-breaking Helge Madison, and the sister, Katherine, who is the champion of the world in the 100-yard freestyle, America has been swept to its topmost heights.

Katherine Rawls, only slightly less formidable than Miss Knight as an all-round star, won the 300-meter individual medley and the 220-yard breaststroke.

The crop-haired, eighteen-year-old Miss Knight has been swimming since she was five. The swimmer in the bowler hat, who would have agreed that there was quite enough, but would have learned that another little Rawls miss, Peggy, eight, swam dives, as does Sonny, ten.

The gentleman in the bowler would have had trouble pronouncing a preference between the pretty Kompa sisters, and, perhaps, would have wished that one had remained at home, to lessen his difficulties.

The Kompa girls are rising young exponents of the backstroke. They made the finish of the 220-yard backstroke strictly a family affair, with Elizabeth barely beating Erna.

The latter only a few days previous had claimed a corner on backstroke fame by shattering a world 220-yard record as old as Mary Hoeger twice in as many days in a New York invitational meet in which she also cracked two American marks.

But withal it took tiny Mary Hoeger to capture the hearts of staid New Yorkers. The freckled and tow-headed youngster bagged the three-meter springboard, beating no less than Mrs. Dorothy Poynton Hill, the Olympic champion.

Close behind her in claiming diving honors was her twelve-year-old sister, Ruth, who took second to Mrs. Hill in the high board final.

The story of the Hoeger youngsters is interesting. The sports world has seen several youngsters gain the supreme heights in fancy skating, but for the little Hoeger girl to sweep aside the high standards of the most exacting of sports was a feat in which only seeing was believing.

Mary, an eighth grade pupil, favors art and arithmetic. She won the title by executing a two-and-one-half forward somersault which Mrs. Hill said was too difficult for any woman diver.

Mary started out to be a breaststroke exponent and continued that until she was seven years old. A year later she had changed over to diving, mastering fourteen dives in a short space of time. Although there is no age limit in Olympic competition, Mrs. Hoeger's application for Mary was rejected in 1932, but later was accepted after a wrangle in which she had to engage a lawyer. Mary finished sixth in competing against Helen Hoeger also is an accomplished diver.

Famous Team To Play Victoria On January 29

Lengthy Negotiations End in Arrangement of Two Or Three Games in B.C.

FIFTEEN EQUAL OF 1924 SQUAD

Arrangements were being completed here this week for an exhibition rugby game between a Victoria rep team and the New Zealand All-Blacks on Wednesday, January 29, it was announced today by H. J. Ketchen, secretary of British Columbia Rugby Union.

After lengthy negotiations which have been proceeding for over six months or so, final details of the visit were being wound up this week. The event will be one of the highlights of 1936 sport in Victoria, provided the weather holds for the engagement.

According to plans which have been laid to date, the New Zealanders, reputedly every bit as good as the famous team which played here in 1924, will arrive in Vancouver on January 25, a Saturday, and will then proceed to Victoria for a game here on January 29 and leave that night for home aboard the Niagara, according to present plans.

The games will be played against Vancouver and Victoria rep squads. No effort will be made to build up a British Columbia fifteen for the fixtures.

Facing the terrible possibility of hard weather at that period of the year, both Victoria and Vancouver unions will do everything in their power to keep grounds in condition. Straws will be laid on the various pitches to keep the frost out of the ground and prayers will go up from the rugby officials against the possibility of snow.

Reports from New Zealanders who have come from the Antipodes recently state the team is one of the finest that has been developed in the island.

The squad is reported to have a full back equal in power to the famous Neill, who starred in the All-Blacks' last appearance here. He is an eighteen-year-old boy called Armistage, stands six foot two and weighs 195 pounds. He can kick with great accuracy with either foot up to sixty yards and is reported to be able to stop anything up to a five-ton truck with his tackling.

Sixteen trial games are scheduled before the team is finally selected. It will leave shortly via the Suez Canal for Great Britain, where it is expected to open its campaign late in September.

In order to have the local machine working smoothly by the time the game rolls around, the local union is expected to start its league play early in October.

As a forerunner of regular games Canadian Scottish and Fifth Brigade teams will trot onto the field for exhibitions against the Danes fifteen within the next three weeks.

Golf Champion Sets Record to Advance

Seattle, Aug. 1.—Continuing her defence of the women's public links title for Washington State, Mrs. Dewey Busch, Tacoma, played the best round of golf ever achieved by a woman golfer on the Jefferson Park course yesterday with a 77, one over women's par.

She defeated Mrs. M. A. Heston in the quarter final round 4 and 3, clipping two strokes off the accepted course record of 79, held jointly by Mrs. Heston and Mrs. G. E. Moore.

Mrs. Busch was to meet Mrs. Rollin Hurd of Aberdeen in the semi-final round today. Mrs. Hurd defeated Miss Joan Mahon of Tacoma yesterday 3 and 2, registering an 84.

Miss Anne Fowler, medalist, was eliminated 2 and 1 by Mrs. G. P. Johnson of Tacoma. To-day Mrs. Johnson was to oppose Miss Ruth Canale of Tacoma. Miss Canale worked her way into the semi-finals by defeating Mrs. Esther Huser 3 and 2.

THE NINETEENTH HOLE IS A REALITY AT MAXWELLTON BRASS... A 60-YARD PITCH SHOT TO THE FUNNEL-SHAPED GREEN QUALIFIES YOU FOR THE HOLE-IN-ONE CLUB...

The proverbial "nineteenth hole" really existed at the Maxwellton Brass course, in Wisconsin. You get a hole-in-one or nothing. If you are successful, a mechanism tripped by the golf ball automatically delivers a medal to you as evidence of the feat. The hole is sixty yards from the tee, and must be reached by a pitched ball to stay on the green. If the ball does stay on the green, it rolls down the funnel-shaped green, it rolls down to the hole and through a hidden tube out to the side. On its way it trips a trigger which causes a bronze medal to be delivered to the player. The rules of the hole are: You get only one shot, and then only after you have played the other eighteen holes.

Mustafa, after forty years a prisoner at the command of his brother, Sultan Ahmed, emerged from his prison to succeed his brother to the throne—and, strange as it seems, the brother who kept him prisoner was the brother who made him sultan. Even at that Mustafa was fortunate in just being imprisoned by his brother—for up until that time it was customary for a sultan to murder all his brothers the moment he came into power. Most famous example of this custom was the case of Sultan Mohammed II. He had nineteen brothers—and murdered them all

Strange as it seems, when match heads are dipped the material that is used to make the heads is mixed with water to give it proper consistency.

George Payne Heads Batting List Still

With an average 5.69 ahead of the runner-up, George Payne, Five C's continued to lead the batting lists in the compilation of averages arranged by R. H. Moffatt, secretary of the Victoria and District Cricket Association, at the end of July.

Payne, with nine innings to his credit in four of which he was not dismissed, has a high score of 84 and an average of 58.60 derived from his run total of 293. Reg. Wenman, powerful Incoags hitter, stands second with an average of 52.91. He still leads the number of runs scored this season with 595, and is high innings man with 147.

Eric Quinton, third in the batting list, replaced George Wilkinson in the bowling division leadership with an average of one wicket for 7.78 runs. He has bowled 66.2 overs to take 23 wickets for 179 runs. E. A. "Ciddy" Goward stands second with an average of one wicket for every eight runs. Arthur Darcus, Victoria's latest cricketing benedict, is third. The averages follow:

HORSESHOE PITCHING

In the mid-week games yesterday evening of the A section teams in the Horseshoe Pitching League, Oakland was over McLeod's Garage, 184 to 169.

C. Groth of McLeod's, with twenty-six ringers; J. McMillan Sr. and D. McMillan of Oakland, each with twenty perfect throws, were the high men of the game.

The strong Pioneer team defeated Rennie and Taylor, 203 to 154. L. Cockerill of Pioneer and J. Keating of Rennie and Taylor were the high men, each having twenty-four ringers.

All captains of B teams are requested to get in touch with their opponents so as to arrange playing of games before this week is over.

HOME RUN PARADE

The battle for last place in the American League's half of baseball's big six has resulted in the group having eight members, five in the junior circuit, to-day. Mickey Cochrane lost three points, while his slugging first baseman, Hank Greenberg, gained to go into a three-way tie with Jimmie Fox, who was idle, each with a percentage of 333. Roger Cramer, who did not play, was left in undisputed possession of second place with 356. Arky Vaughan showed the biggest gain, boosting his average four points to an even 400 with four hits in two games.

The standings: G. A. B. R. N. P. Ferrell, Pirates, 89.20; 77.122.409; Medwick, Cardinals, 83.281.84.142.373; Vaughn, Indians, 82.289.50.121.384; Bucher, Dodgers, 80.243.44.86.381; Cramer, Athletics, 80.384.59.129.336; Greenberg, Tigers, 84.402.82.125.325; Fox, Athletics, 80.398.74.100.331; Cochrane, Tigers, 77.279.67.93.332.

BAYS BEAT CHURCHMEN

Department Store Cricketers Easy Victors Over Five C's in Cup Game

As Frank Tyrell and Jack Oakman put up 50 and 61 respectively, Hudson's Bays defeated Five C's by 78 runs in the opening Berger Cup series for Wednesday League cricket teams at Beacon Hill yesterday.

Two other Bays players reached double figures to help put on the total of 177. Muncey, with 42, was the main contributor to the churchmen's 99.

Norman Tyrell was the most successful bowler, taking four Five C's wickets for fourteen runs in three overs.

Will Get Contestants in Annual Times Through-Victoria Event Away on Three-mile Grind on Saturday Afternoon at 2.30 o'Clock; Finish in Inner Harbor

With three or four more entries expected in within the next day or two, the list of contestants seeking honors in The Times Through-Victoria Swim on Saturday to-day stood at seven.

In addition, Bobby Smirli, smart Y.M.C.A. performer; Denny Walker, who won the event three years ago, and a Nanaimo entry are expected to file their forms prior to the meet.

Two fourteen-year-old performers, Kenneth Campbell and Molly White, the latter of the Pacific Swimming Club, will start in the race this year along with Bobby Mathewson, cup defender; Bette Barnhart, Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club, who finished second last year; Eleanor Feden, Pacific Swimming Club; Bob Lawrence, Pacific Swimming Club, and Bill Jenkins of the Navy.

In addition to the prized perpetual trophy held for one year only by the winner, handsome cups will be awarded the first, second, third and youngest finishers.

For the latter award, Ken Campbell and Molly White are the outstanding hopes to date.

OFFICIALS The event will get underway at 2.30 o'clock from the James Bay Athletic Association float at the Gorge as Premier T. D. Pattullo starts the swimmers on the three-mile grind.

Archie McKinnon, Y.M.C.A. physical director and leading local coach, will act as timekeeper and judge. Frank Hyslop, president of the Vancouver Island Swimming League and local representative on the B.C. section of the C.A.S.A., will be referee; D. M. (Pete) Salway, sports editor of The Times, will be announcer, carrying a running commentary on the race from aboard the speedboat Blusbird, and Alderman J. D. Hunter will be official doctor. Bill Findlay, secretary of the local swimming league, will act as clerk of course.

He will be aboard a big power boat which will chart the way down the inlet. The Bluebird, with the announcer and doctor aboard, will cut through the water following the swimmers, ready to give immediate attention to any who find the going too hard. Weather, the 11th of June, which has picked up the swimmers for several years, will take aboard those who tire or cramp on the long grind.

Swimmers will be allowed to change in the James Bay Athletic Association quarters, will dress themselves on the starting float and wash and dress at the Crystal Garden, the use of which has kindly been given by A. H. Cowlishaw, manager.

The race will finish at the float before the Empress Hotel in the Inner Harbor.

PROVIDE OWN PILOTS All contestants must provide their own pilots and pilot boats to guide them down the route. No artificial devices to help them float or propel themselves forward will be allowed. Any swimmer who requires assistance from his boat will not be allowed to continue on his way after being given actual physical help.

Goggles and bathing caps may be used and grooves or any description can be applied to the contestants before they take to the water.

Chicago Cubs Continue Sensational Pace In National League

Slice New York Giants' Lead To Mere Half-game

Divide Double-header With Pittsburgh as Leaders Lose to Phillies

DETROIT GAINS ON IDLE YANKS

New York baseball fans may talk of a five-cent world series but out in Chicago there is a strong feeling it will be a three-for-a-quarter affair with the elevated and not the subway providing the chief mode of transportation.

It's been many years since the south and north sides of the Wind City even dared to think their pride would settle their arguments in other than a city series. Once before, in 1905, the Sox and Cubs met to decide baseball supremacy with fielder Jones leading the American League to a 4 to 2 triumph in games over the National League team, managed by Frank Chance.

And now they have hopes again with Cubs only a half game back of the pace setting New York Giants in the National League and the White Sox only a half game out of second place and three and one-half games to the rear of the Detroit Tigers in the junior circuit.

The Cubs had a golden opportunity to all but close the gap yesterday when the Giants lost to the Phillies, but the best they could do was a split in a doubleheader with the Pittsburgh Pirates. They won the opener 4 to 2 with Roy Henshaw outpitching Cy Blanton and then carried the nightcap to eleven innings before losing 5 to 3.

Giants were the victims of home runs as Phil won 5 to 3 to take the series two games to one. John Moore and Dolph Camilli each picked out one of Carl Hubbell's curves and hit successive homers in the second and third innings.

White Sox closed in on the New York Yankees, whose game with the Philadelphia Athletics was rained out, by coming from behind and beating the Cleveland Indians 4 to 4. Mel Harder hit two homers for the tribe.

Tigers also took advantage of Yankee idleness to gain half game and boost their lead to three games by trimming the last place St. Louis Browns, 9 to 5.

Wesley Ferrell was the whole show as he chalked up his seventeenth victory in hurling and batting Boston Red Sox to a 6 to 4 victory over Washington Senators. He drove out two homers and a single, sending four runs home.

In a night game at Cincinnati, the Reds took a 4 to 3 fall out of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals in ten innings.

COAST LEAGUE

"Dutch" Reuther and company, in Seattle, are offering up thanks to the weather man today.

Whoever controls the coming and going of the rain the northwest, ably assisted by the San Francisco Seals, placed the Indians momentarily in undisputed possession of third place, a half game ahead of Los Angeles in the Coast League scramble.

The Seals beat Los Angeles, 6 to 5, while the Seattle-Oakland game was rained out, Oakland slid into a tie with the Angels for fourth.

Joe di Maggio drove a liner over the left field fence with two men aboard, to give the Seals their advantage.

Fred Berger, Mission left fielder, drove a long fly out into right field in the last of the ninth inning, to bring Oscar Eckhardt home from first with the winning run, as the Reds took their second straight game from Hollywood, 5 to 4.

Jake Wade allowed but six hits and struck out five batters as Portland defeated Sacramento, 6 to 0.

Duncan Cricket

Duncan, Aug. 1.—The second day's play, Tuesday, in the cricket week at Duncan saw Eccles eleven, Vancouver, drew with the Cowichan eleven. Cowichan batted first and compiled 109, and at the call of time (when the visitors had to leave to catch the boat), Eccles eleven had 141 for seven wickets. For Cowichan, Archdeacon H. A. Collison was top scorer with 73, whilst T. Smith 43 and Kirkham 35 were the best for the visitors. In the bowling Parkinson took 3 for 22, Eccles 3 for 39, Irving 3 for 38, and A. Smith 1 for 5. For Cowichan, Balas 3 for 40, Mowbray 3 for 58 and Collison 1 for 8.

B.C. TENNIS IS HALTED BY RAIN

Vancouver, Aug. 1.—For the third straight week the weatherman stepped in to halt tournament play on British Columbia courts as the British Columbia clay courts championships were rained out at the Jericho Tennis Club yesterday.

Tournament officials announced play would be resumed to-day if weather permitted.

Rain halted playing of the Canadian finals at Victoria last Saturday and the title rounds were put over until Sunday.

The previous week the weatherman cut short the opening day schedule of the western grass courts tennis championships at the Vancouver Tennis Club.

Continue Play In Western Tennis

Regina, Aug. 1.—Fighting an uphill battle, Alf Bence and Vera Bolland, Saskatoon pair, advanced to the mixed doubles semi-finals in the western Canada tennis tournament yesterday when they defeated Art Small, Winnipeg, and Mrs. Victor Johnson in a hard three-set match, 2-6, 6-2, 7-5.

The McKush brothers, Otto and Eddie, Winnipeg, fared well in both singles and doubles. In the doubles, the brothers were extended by T. Chambers and Tommy Thomson of Cadomin, Alta.

SPENCERS AND CAFEMEN WIN

Defeat New Method and Army in Calvert Cup Softball Games

Spencers and Foodie Dog Cafe softball nine's yesterday evening chalked up wins in the Calvert Cup knockout series, when they defeated the Army nine and New Method Laundry, respectively.

Foodie Dog squad administered a 9 to 6 win over the soldiers at Work Point Barracks, while the laundrymen lost to the departmentals, 9 to 4, at Central Park.

In another fixture Silent Glows managed to nose out the Hollywood Club 10 to 7 at the Victoria West Park.

Batting in another Calvert Cup game, Painters Bruins fought their way to a 11 to 4 victory over the Civil Service Club at Memorial Park.

With Sid Carr, ace hurler for Painters in great form, the New Method batters were helpless. Yesterday evening's match saw Carr throw his team to their seventeenth win of the season. In the third frame New Method managed to get in three runs, but they were held down for the rest of the match, getting a lone run in the sixth.

"Toys" McCallan, did the twirling for the laundrymen, and Spencer's opened up their attack with plenty of punch in the first inning by challenging up two runs and added two more in each of the second, third and fourth frames and finished up with a lone run in the eighth.

Leo Bradley, Spencer's second baseman, crashed out a home run in the fourth inning with one man on.

The game was featured by three double plays, and a number of fine catches in the outer gardens, which drew plenty of applause from the large crowd.

Score by innings:
Spencers..... 2 3 2 2 0 1 0 0 0
New Method..... 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 4

Batteries—S. Carr and L. Knapp; R. McCallan and S. Magee.
At Work Point Barracks the Foodie Dog nine took an early lead, and in spite of a number of threatening rallies by the soldiers were able to finish victors by a 9 to 6 score. Tommy Johnson hurled for the cafemen.

Manager Bert Simpson's Painters Bruins took a big lead in first two frames, scoring eight runs, and at the end of the match finished up with an 11 to 4 victory over the Civil Service Club. Bert Simpson pitched a fine game for the winners, giving the Cafemen a 9 to 6 score.

Very little to choose from. Chambers, mounds see for the government boys, started off bad, but after the second inning hurled good ball.

Score by innings:

Winnipeg, Aug. 1.—Two new Canadian records for the javelin and baseball throw were claimed by Robins Higgins at the conclusion of an all-star Winnipeg track and field meet here yesterday evening.

The nineteen-year-old member of the Winnipeg North End Athletic Club tossed the javelin 121 feet 4 inches to eclipse the mark of 118 feet 3 inches set by Fanny Rosenfeld of Montreal.

In the baseball throw, the capable Robins tossed the ball a distance of 222 feet 2 inches to break her former Dominion mark of 218 feet 11 inches.

The Amateur Athletic Union of Canada will be asked to accept the new marks as official Canadian records.

ZIMMERMAN GOLF CHAMP

Portlander Defeats Neil Christian in Play-off For Washington Open Title

Bellingham, Wash., Aug. 1.—With the overtime open golf championship finally out of the way—Al, Zimmerman, Portland, winning the title in thrilling manner from Neil Christian, Yakima, thirty-two slalom-pure contestants began their "sudden death" battles to-day for the state amateur crown.

In the eighteen-hole qualifying round Seattle gained nineteen representatives, Bellingham eleven and Olympia, Chehalis and Wenatchee one each for the championship match play, but one from Wenatchee, Seattle or Bellingham had to be eliminated in a play-off early to-day.

Six tied for the last five places with 83.

James N. Clapp and Ralph Whaley, both Seattle, and Leslie Leal, Bellingham, wound up in a tie for medal honors and will have to meet for the prize later in the week.

BUD WARD HAS 75

Bud Ward, Olympia, one of the outstanding favorites, was unable to get started on the outward nine, taking a 45, and had to be content with a 75.

Immediately after taking 80 in the qualifying round, Harold West, Chehalis, toured the course again, for practice and came in with a par-busting 70, indicating he is ready to make a serious bid for the championship.

Two eighteen-hole matches a day were on the programme for to-day and to-morrow, with the championship to be decided at thirty-six holes Saturday.

The several hundred lucky spectators who followed the open play-off match probably saw the most thrilling golf ever played at a single hole when Zimmerman clinched his victory by scoring a hole in one to beat Christian's birdie two at the 165-yard fourteenth.

Zimmerman didn't give Christian a chance in the eighteen-hole battle when he also scored an eagle and a couple of birdies for a slugging 67, four under par. But at that, Neil was only two strokes behind until Zimmerman got his ace, and then he went to pieces, going four strokes over par on the last four holes for a 73.

It was the second time Zimmerman had triumphed over Christian in a play-off for a title. The Portland boy winning the Pacific Northwest open 19 oaks in 1931. Al succeeds his brother Emory as the champion.

Fights Are Drawing Big Crowds at Big Prices; Eddie Wenstob, Alberta Light Heavyweight, Returns After Great Success; Seeks Title Bout With Belanger

Toronto, Aug. 1.—Mike Kaplan, formerly of Kitchener, Ont., is busy here to-day on two projects—getting his Eddie Wenstob, Viking, Alta., matched with Charlie Belanger for the Canadian light heavyweight title and picking up a few amateur hockey stars to take back with him to England.

The genial Kaplan has operated in England for more than a year, rating along the twenty-one-year-old Wenstob until the Alberta cowboy stands close to the top among British light heavies. He is proud the amateur hockey business has started to boom and hopes to take back about a dozen hockey players.

AFTER WORLD TITLE

But his fondest hope at the moment is matching the muscular Viking fighter with Belanger—a fight "Kap" expects to see staged in Toronto or Montreal and one he believes will place the youthful Wenstob where he may face challenges for the world championship.

To England Wenstob paid his manager hand the credit for their success in climbing the fistic ladder so far. "Real" sports and "marvelous" people are the adjectives sent across the waters to England, where Kaplan says the fight game is booming and where it costs $25 for a ringside seat to witness a battle, even when it rains.

When Walter Nussel, Germany's threat, beat Jack Peterson, England's choice, in a heavyweight fight at Wembley Stadium, 65,000 were present and some of them paid $25 for ringside seats despite the dripping skies. And Wenstob stole the plaudits of the 65,000 by his tussle with Eddie Phillips, Britain's light heavy monarch.

The forewarned from Alberta lost through being disqualified in the ninth when he accidentally clipped Phillips after the bell, but London's sports fans and writers called him the real prospect and dubbed him Canada's fighting cowboy.

Jimmy Wilde, peerless in his days as flyweight champion, followed Alberta's gift to the fistic circles throughout his European tour and declared him the fighter "made of material which develops champions."

Arthur Wilde, who handles sports promotions for Wembley, the Old Country's Madison Square Garden, viewed the youngster in one of his ring appearances and slipped an extra $25 into his purse to show his appreciation.

WILL RETURN

Wenstob, whether he meets Belanger or not, is bound back to England's ring and he returns with a record few fighters have made in the Old Country. A peak at the Norwegian's record shows he drew in eight rounds with Ben Ford, South Africa's light heavyweight champion.

Eric Seelig, headed for United States for championship laurels, was held to a draw in twelve rounds and Ernie Simmons, Birmingham, lost to Wenstob over the same route. The Viking fighter knocked out George Brennan, another English hope, in four rounds and Ginger Haurwitz went to sleep in three before the barrage.

Although he's been fighting slightly more than a year, Wenstob has engaged in twenty-seven struggles and has nineteen knockouts to his credit. He stands 5 feet 11½ inches, tips the scales at 175 and in a short while the energetic manager of the Alberta battler predicts he will be throwing rights and lefts at the pick of the heavies.

Every day is training day for Wenstob while he stays in Toronto or any other place, but he hopes to journey westward before leaving in September for England to meet the folks in Viking and spend a while with his father, a rancher who taught the young boxer how to ride and handle

Bellingham Wins Game With Uniteds

Bellingham, Wash., Aug. 1.—Overcoming a three-run lead registered by the visitors in the first innings, Bellingham, clubbed out a 9 to 4 win over Uniteds, Vancouver, in an Inter-city League game here yesterday evening.

The Boosters clinched the game in the sixth with a five-run rally. Clarke hit a home run for Bellingham with one mate aboard.

Short score: R. H. E.

Scotty Campbell In Upset Defeat

Seattle Star Eliminated in Second Round of U.S. Public Links Golf Championship By California Unknown; Series of Upsets Feature First Day's Match Play

Indianapolis, Aug. 1.—A wave of upsets, the two largest churned up by a pair of unknowns from California, struck the national public links golf championship yesterday, sweeping away every important favorite, except Dave Mitchell, defending champion from Indianapolis, and Arthur Armstrong, Honolulu, the man he beat for the title a year ago.

As the burning rays of a mid-summer scorching sun all but stifled the field with more than 100-degree heat, a two-time champion, the current medalist and two former medal winners, among them the famed "Scotty" Campbell, Seattle, passed out of the championship picture. It was one of the biggest series of upsets in the championship's fourteen years of play.

Lloyd Nordstrom, Swedish salesman from Haverport, Iowa, who led the field from start to finish in the first round, was escorted out by Bob Tumes, a grey-thatched unknown to the tournament from Long Beach, Calif., in the second round.

Fred Gordon, twenty-one-year-old movie lot worker from Santa Monica, Calif., upset Campbell in a hard battle that extended through one thunderstorm and to the final green, 1 up.

FERRERA OUT

Tab Boyer, unemployed sports writer from Portland, Ore., who won the medal in 1933, was a first-round victim, defeated by Mike Perco, twenty-year-old gas station attendant from Buffalo, N.Y., 2 and 1, who later was eliminated by Joe Coria, a policeman in a St. Paul picnic park, 2 up. The former champion to fall was Charles Ferrera of San Francisco, 1931 and 1933 winner, but it was Nordstrom who eliminated him in the first round, 4 and 2.

Campbell, the young Seattle star, who finished in a tie runner-up

Baseball Game Is Rained Out

Due to wet grounds the exhibition baseball game scheduled at the Athletic Park yesterday evening between Fred McGinnis' Old-timers and the Commercial League all-stars was postponed. The fixture will be played next Wednesday. Although no game was played, the veterans engaged in a stiff workout and Manager McGinnis announced his boys in first-class condition, more or less.

honors in the qualifying round on Tuesday, was picked by many to reach the final, just as he did two years ago, but he met stubborn opposition in the Californian. Campbell was feared from the start, as he entered the meet with a fine golfing record behind, despite his twenty-one years. Twice he has held the Pacific Northwest crown, and a like number of times he has lifted the Canadian honors, the last time in 1934, when he defeated Ross "Sandy" Somerville in the final at Montreal.

However, Campbell took his defeat good-naturedly and can blame the extreme heat and changeable weather for his elimination.

The monthly meeting of Ward 3 Liberal Association will be held at headquarters, to-morrow, 8 p.m. All members are cordially invited to attend.

The Y.M.C.A. swimming pool will be closed on Monday for two weeks for its annual overhaul. Swimming classes will be discontinued during this period.

The total bank clearing in the city for the week ended August 1 was $1,449,219, according to a statement issued by the Victoria Clearing House this morning. The figure for the same period last year was $1,565,062.

Chief Allan Rankin of the St. James police, left the city yesterday on his annual vacation for two weeks. During his absence Sgt. P. K. Cummings will be in charge. He may be reached by telephoning G 2232 or E 9218.

The Central Vacation School, which has been held in the Metropolitan United Church for the last three weeks, will close to-morrow morning, when the work done by the members of the school will be shown at 10 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Joseph Smith, alias Peter Jones, was committed for trial by Magistrate Jay in the Police Court this morning, on a charge of committing a grossly indecent act. T. M. Miller appeared for the defence, but called no evidence, after electing preliminary hearing.

E. G. Wolf, 1219 Walnut Street, a dock worker, reported to police yesterday that his gasboat had been partly submerged at its mooring at Turret Rock, at the foot of Herald Street. He also reported the locks, doors and engine cups were smashed. Mr. Wolf reported he had been threatened by two men on Tuesday.

A statement appearing in yesterday's issue in a news dispatch from Nelson that Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstructionist leader, would speak in Victoria on Friday was a mistake, due to a change in Mr. Stevens' arrangements. As announced, on the front page of the same issue, he will speak in Victoria at the City Temple on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

The theft yesterday evening of a number of tools belonging to Giles Province, 2703 Fernwood Road, was reported to City Police this morning. They were stolen from the Watson and McGregor Building, Johnson Street, where Mr. Province was working. The implements stolen were two hand saws, an axe, a hammer, three wood chisels, two steel chisels and a square.

ANTI-EVOLUTION GROUP MEETS

About one hundred guests attended a garden party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Snape, Tattersall Drive, on Wednesday afternoon to hear of the further progress of the evolution protest movement.

Letters were read by Mrs. Aitree Coley, chairman of the movement in Victoria, expressing full endorsement from leading scientists and ministers. Informative addresses were given by Dr. A. G. Price, and Herbert Boothman. Rev. A. deB. Owen and Rev. W. J. Waugh also took part.

Owing to rain, discussion of plans had to be postponed, and by the courtesy of E. E. Richards, who offered the period of his usual weekly British-Israel lecture, the meeting was adjourned until Monday evening, August 5, at 8 o'clock in the Campbell Building, when a large attendance is anticipated.

Prior to the meeting tea was served by Mrs. Snape, assisted by Miss Rester Duke and others.

Charles A. Cotterell, general superintendent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Vancouver, is registered at the Empress Hotel to-day on a business trip.

Funeral services for James Barber, who died on Tuesday, will be conducted to-morrow at 2 o'clock at Sands Mortuary Chapel, Rev. J. S. Patterson officiating. Interment will be made in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Funeral services for the late Samuel Tysoe, 1035 Oliphant Street, will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Dean C. S. Quinlan will officiate, and the remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Assurance of the provincial government would use local labor as far as possible in the surfacing of Vancouver Island road was conveyed in a letter from Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, received at the City Hall to-day.

Siamese-twin Dahlia From Sooke May Be New Variety

A Siamese-twin dahlia, which may be the forerunner of a new variety of this lovely autumn flower, was brought up to the news room of The Times this morning by Mrs. H. Thomas of 918 North Park Street.

The freak was grown by Mrs. W. G. Gordon, wife of the manager of the Sooke & Peden farm at Sooke.

It is two flowers joined together at the calyx. As the dahlia is of the pom-pom variety, the back-to-back flowers almost form a solid ball of pink petals.

Mrs. Gordon found a similar freak in her garden last year and thought nothing of it. When the Siamese twin appeared again this year on the same plant, she became more interested.

Mrs. Gordon believes that she has one of those rare occurrences in nature of its own will. A good illustration of this is the loganberry, which originated as a blackberry "sport" in the garden of Dr. Logan in California.

Most of the best apple varieties had their beginning in the same way, and horticulturists at the Experimental Station at Saanichton and all over the world are watching apple trees for "sports" which may be the forerunners of newer and still better varieties.

Though the Siamese twin dahlia is not much more than a queer aberration of nature at the present time, plant experts, when shown the freak, believe that by careful breeding it may be possible to produce a new variety of dahlias which will be a perfect ball of petals.

FOREST FIRE TOLL JUMPS

Province Had 107 Blazes Last Week; Heavy on Coast

With increasing hazard as hot weather swept the coast area, British Columbia's forest fire toll soared again last week after a respite in the first half of July, according to forest branch reports.

One hundred and seven outbreaks were reported in the seven days, compared with forty-two for the corresponding week of last year and bringing the season's total to 544 against 518 at the same date of 1934.

The Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, is still bearing the brunt of the fire attack with 225 fires to date, including twenty-nine in the last week. Nelson area suffered heaviest in the latest seven-day period, however, with fifty-four outbreaks. Except for Kamloops district, conditions at the week-end were generally hot and hazardous.

CHEMICAL MAN ON HONEYMOON

Joshua Lilly, chairman of the Eli Lilly Chemical Company of Indianapolis, Indiana, is visiting Victoria to-day. The chemical manufacturer, who is sixty years old, recently married Mrs. Humes, and they are on their wedding tour, which includes Banff, Lake Louise and Alaska. They are at the Empress Hotel and will be in Canada a month.

The Eli Lilly Chemical Company is an old-established firm, with warehouses in London and Shanghai and other parts of the world.

Man Murdered Wife By Color

Ernest Prentice Tells Rotarians How Mauve Drove a Woman Insane and Caused Death.

Color alone can kill a human being.

A man killed his wife by color, said Ernest Prentice when pointing out the affect of color on a human temper in a talk on interior decoration before the Victoria Rotary Club luncheon in the Empress Hotel this afternoon.

He knew that she hated mauve, so he had the whole house painted mauve. He even grew mauve flowers in the garden. Everything she saw was mauve. Finally she went insane and died.

Some people could live with certain colors better than others, said Mr. Prentice. The most suitable colors had been found to be mauve, cream, ivory, orange, fawn and other colors of that order.

Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Malcolm, who passed away suddenly at her home, 1145 Oscar Street, on Tuesday, will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Interment will be in Colwood Burial Park.

Mrs. Malcolm is survived by four daughters, Mrs. P. B. Moore, Mrs. E. V. McIntyre and Miss Mabel Malcolm of Victoria, and Mrs. J. D. Voepel of Vancouver; two sons, Robert, Victoria, and William, Vancouver; sixteen grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

DANCING GIRLS OF BALI TOPIC

Herbert Pendray, Pinch-hitting For H. Guthrie, Entertained Rotarians To-day

The whirling dervish of the dancing girls of Bali and the tall spires of Bangkok's 150 temples were shown to the Rotarians at their weekly luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day by Herbert Pendray in a beautiful colored film taken during his recent world tour.

Mr. Pendray spoke in place of Harry Guthrie, internationally prominent Rotarian, of Dunedin, N.Z., who caught the liner Niagara this morning for New Zealand.

The temple girls of Bali were taught to dance from childhood, and by the time they were fourteen, they had to give place to younger dancers, Mr. Pendray said. Every dance represented some legend or story, in which the girl usually conquered some terrible-looking devil.

"Bali is said to be a man's paradise," the lecturer declared, "for on the island all the work is done by women." He also showed a funeral procession in which the chief of a village was cremated. The body of the chieftain was put on the top of a seventy-foot tower which had been carried by 150 of the mourners. Then the whole thing was burned.

In his film on the capital of Siam, Mr. Pendray took the Rotarians within the palace of the ex-King Prajadhipok. The buildings of the palace had walls of Italian marble, but the roofs were of typically Siamese design.

There were two elephant statues which were supposed to be made out of solid bronze. Grotesque guards stood at the gate of the palace and all the temples.

Most of the buildings in Bangkok, Mr. Pendray said, were not more than 250 years old. In one temple the floor was of tiled silver. The roofs in most cases were of blue and red tiles with an edging of gold leaf which gave a brilliant effect.

In most of the temples were golden trinkets and hanging bells which tinkled in the wind. In one of the finest temples was a jade Buddha which was believed to be the largest piece of jade in the world.

Before Mr. Pendray showed his films, Ernest Prentice gave a short talk on interior decorations. He divided this work into three classes, ordinary, artistic and modernistic.

He showed the importance of color combinations and reflection, and the effect of colors on individuals. Mr. Prentice also pointed out that modernistic decorating was coming more and more to the fore.

Dr. Vernon B. Taylor was in the chair. Vic Clark introduced visiting Rotarians to the meeting. During the course of the luncheon the members sang popular songs to the accompaniment of the club's own orchestra.

YOUTH LURES FISH

Billy and Eileen O'Leary, ten and twelve respectively, are San Francisco children who can give points to the natives in fishing finesse. They are here seen at Brentwood Bay after a successful expedition. Billy is holding a nine-inch pomander and Eileen is displaying her share of the sport. Billy and Eileen are the children of Lou O'Leary, war veteran who left Victoria fourteen years ago. He brought his family back to his home town to spend a two weeks' holiday here with relatives.

PIN MACHINE BRINGS FINE

Convicted of keeping a gaming house at 2908 Douglas Street, by the operation of a pin or marble machine, Marjorie Wescomb was fined $15 in the City Police Court this morning.

The conviction followed evidence of Constable Samuel McKennie who testified he had played the machine thirteen times, with five-cent pieces, receiving three slugs when he won three games. One of the slugs he played back into the machine and for the other two he received a ten-cent package of cigarettes. While there was certain skill attached to the game, the constable testified it was largely a game of chance. The sum of $9.20 was seized when the store was raided and forty-two slugs were taken out of the machine.

Sgt. A. H. Bishop also gave evidence and told the court the game was purely one of chance in his opinion.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

Santa Monica, Aug. 1.—To the Editor of The Times:—Here is your headline in the papers every day: "Jim Doakes Delivers Bitter Attack on Roosevelt." "Woodruff, Republican, of Michigan, Denounces Heartily New Deal in Its Entirety." "Col. William A. Bohannan Says Unless Country Returned to Good Old Republican Rule Moscow Will Annex Us." "Dr. Jasbo, the well-known infantile paralysis specialist, a man of great means and a life-long Republican, says there is something about the affiliation and its effects that delusions the patient to want to bring equality. It's purely a mental disease and should be kept out of office." Now it's sixteen months till election. You think they are going to feed people on that for sixteen long months. No. The boys started their race too early. The time to make your plea to the jury is just before they go out. You can't lecture a jury for a year and four months.

Yours,
Will Rogers.

NEW SYSTEM IS ADVOCATED

Dr. King Gordon Speaks at C.C.F. Picnic at Willows Beach

The C.C.F. is the only true reconstruction party in Canada, claimed Dr. King Gordon, C.C.F. candidate in Victoria federal riding, speaking at the federation's annual picnic at Willows Beach yesterday afternoon.

The Stevens Reconstruction Party stood for the reconstruction of capitalism. "This was a system that had already brought distress to Canadians and could not be bolstered up."

Application of brains and intelligence was necessary by adherents of the C.C.F. would evoke a new social system, he claimed. Those who were now afraid of losing their jobs, or of sickness, or old age, or the future of their children would have security under such an administration.

Canadians are not free to-day, he said, but they can secure liberty at the polls. In the coming campaign they would, for the first time, be able to vote on a society which would make them secure and happy.

He urged his hearers to dream, talk and think C.C.F. principles if they wished to help in making Canada a country in which they would be glad to live.

Over 1,000 persons attended the picnic. Foot races, jumping, tug-of-war and softball were listed on the sports programme. Bowley's Boys Band provided music, a best baby contest was held and an amateur vaudeville show presented.

Dr. Gordon was introduced by Rev. Robert Connell, C.C.F. provincial House leader.

CONSTRUCTION HERE DOUBLED

Total For Seven Months Ending in July Twice Corresponding Figure in 1934

Building figures for Victoria at the end of July stood just twice as high as those for the corresponding period in 1934, it was announced to-day by D. M. Kennedy, city building inspector.

A great jump in building during July over that of the corresponding month last year assisted in creating the favorable difference.

For the month just concluded the totals were $84,400 against $16,473 for July, 1934. The aggregate for the first seven months of the current year was announced as $502,922 against $150,927 up to the end of July last year.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Joe E. Brown appears at the Capitol Theatre in "Alibi Ike." Warner Bros. home run comedy, based on the popular story by Ring Lardner.

Joe, in the title role, is both a crack pitcher and the best batter of his club. He has an alibi for everything—not just for mistakes—but for plays any other player would have been proud of.

Joe falls in love with the sister of the Captain's wife, but when he alibis on his romance, the girl hears him and turns him down cold.

Thrills follow in which Joe is kidnapped by a bunch of crooks, but he escapes, and the romance is patched up by the players in one of the most comical climaxes imaginable.

AERIAL SHOTS FEATURE DRAMA

Splendid Camera Work Evidenced in "Crimson Romance"

There is one question which will be uppermost in the minds of all who see the screen's latest and most spectacular air drama "Crimson Romance," which comes to the Columbia Theatre to-day—"where was the cameraman?"

The answer is, that no matter how dangerous a scene is shown with air-planes swerving, banking and turning on edge in thin air, the camera man was in a position just about twice as bad.

Cameras were bolted to the very wing-tips on some planes, special devices under the body of the plane in some instances, and other starting scenes were photographed with the camera lens within an inch or two of the rapidly revolving propeller.

"Crimson Romance" transcends anything so far shown on the motion-picture screen for sheer, spectacular skill and daring in the field of aerial motion-picture photography.

Being shown as second feature on this programme is Ralph Bellamy in "Girl in Danger," this is a Columbia Picture.

Guy Kibbee In "Going Highbrow"

"Going Highbrow," the Warner Bros. comedy, based on the riotous play by Ralph Spence, opens at the Dominion Theatre to-morrow.

The picture is said to be filled with hilarious situations, snappy dialogue, new and unique screen laughs as well as a delightful romance.

The story involves the rise of a poor mid-west farmer who suddenly gains riches, and his wife, who goes highbrow and tries to break into society.

The wife engages a high powered publicity agent who agrees to put them across through the sponsorship of an impoverished aristocratic family for a big fee.

Guy Kibbee and Zasu Pitts play the stellar roles. Edward Everett Horton appears as the blundering promotion manager, while Ross Alexander and June Martel have the romantic roles.

FOLLOW UP OPENING LEAD

Returning Same Suit Played By Partner Would Have Killed Declarer's Entry and Set Contract

By Wm. E. McKENNEY

An old-timer known to bridge players all over the country dropped in to see me the other day. He is William J. Huske. Bill was one of the first bridge editors in the country. His former home was Cleveland. He is now established with "Towle," a three-handed bridge game, having written a book on it some time ago.

Bill gave me to-day's hand. "Why is it," he asked, "that so many good opening leads are wasted, due to the fact that the partner decides upon a different line of attack?"

Today's Contract Problem

East has the contract for four hearts. South opens the ace of clubs. What club should South now lead to let his partner know, in case he ruffs this second club trick, what re-entry South has?

West is confronted with quite a problem. North has bid hearts, South diamonds and spades. You might say a club would be a good opening lead. Well, that may be leading into declarer's tenace holding.

Seldom is it a good idea to open trump against a slam contract. West realizes that, with his heart holding, his partner must have a lot of spades and maybe spade re-entries are the things that have to be killed in declarer's hand. Of course, with a spade lead, West may be leading into a spade tenace, but then declarer could always take the finesse. So West opened the five of spades. This opening, as it happens, is the only one that could defeat the contract.

A small spade was played from dummy. East played the ten, and declarer won the trick with the ace.

He immediately led the queen of diamonds. East won the trick with the ace. East knew that his partner was out of spades, because South, having bid spades, should hold at least four. On the first diamond trick, West played the nine spot and certainly declarer, to bid six diamonds, should hold at least the queen, jack, and ten. Therefore, that would leave West out of diamonds.

East now decided to shift to the king of clubs, hoping to establish a club trick, but this very play allowed declarer to make the contract. Declarer discarded a small spade on the ace of clubs.

He now played all the trumps and got the hand down where he held the king-nine of spades and the king-six of hearts, dummy the eight of spades, the ace-four of hearts and the jack of clubs, and East the queen, jack and seven of spades and the queen of clubs.

At this point declarer cashed the king of hearts and East had to let go of a spade. The six of hearts was played and won in dummy with the ace.

Now East was squeezed. Any discard he made would give declarer the rest of the tricks.

If the queen of spades, instead of a club, had been returned, you can see that declarer would not have had the needed entry into his own hand, as that play would have knocked out the king of spades, thereby defeating the contract.

THE MYSTERIES OF LIFE

SHIRLEY TEMPLE HAS GREAT GIFT

Child Star in "The Little Colonel" at the Playhouse

Lionel Barrymore prophesies a grand future for little Shirley Temple, and believes she is the possessor of a gift far beyond the conception of ordinary mortals. He compares her with his grandmother, the first Mrs. John Drew, who was herself a finished actress at the age of six.

Both praised and praised are co-starred in Fox Film's "The Little Colonel," the current success at the Playhouse Theatre.

"It was a delight to watch her work and to work with her," the talented dean of the screen reports.

"Here was a case during the making of this picture, where no one tried to turn this gifted child into a brain tank. She may have reflected the director's idea, but in her own way she reasoned them out intelligently.

"I am convinced her talent is God-given. Her way of developing her perception as the story progresses is truly bewildering to an older person. Also being shown as second feature is Noel Coward's "The Scoundrel" starring Julie Haydon.

FEATS OF FILM ASTONISHING

THE RED CROSS WORKSHOP

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—What does life hold for women between fifty and sixty? Why do our children think that at that age we are supposed to be sitting in our parlors and waiting for the children to come home with us? Why do they think that it would be terrible for mother to go out and get a job and earn her own living, or even to marry again? Why can't they realize that we find it hard to live in our children's home and want our own, and our own independence and maybe somebody to love us. I am in my early fifties, strong and healthy, and I am tired of being

ON THE SHELF.

Answer—Good for you, sister! Up and at 'em. Now that you have got to the rebellion point, get out and do something about it. Head a revolt of middle-aged women against their dutiful, loving children who are enslaving them in the name of kindness.

If you do that, you will achieve a double-barreled reform that will add more to the sum of human happiness than any one thing in the world. And you will solve one of the greatest of all domestic problems, for you will not only eliminate the great source of conflict in countless homes, but by so doing you will provide for the well-being of the trouble-maker.

Everyone knows that it seldom adds to the serenity of a home to have a mother-in-law in it. Most in-laws resent her presence. It brings about jealousies, interferences, daily conflicts of will, a thousand unpleasantnesses, and no matter how much her children love mother they would be happier without her.

And mother would be happier away from them. She knows herself unwelcome. She feels herself in the way. All of her life she has been busy. Now she has nothing to do. She has had her place in the sun. Now she is only John's or Mary's mother. And years of running her own house have totally unfitted her to live in another woman's house and take orders instead of give them.

But when mother had no money the situation seemed unavoidable. She had to go to live with her children and be supported by them, no matter how abhorred she was, nor how she choked on the bread of dependence. And all of this misery has been suffered by thousands of women just because they didn't realize that they were still young enough to make their own living, and didn't have enough grit and independence to roll up their sleeves and go to work and support themselves.

Praise be that they are seeing the light at last, and instead of mother patronizing herself like the old woman of the sea around her children's neck, her father dies and spending the remainder of her days preparing for her latter end, she hustles out and gets her job and often has a more interesting life than she ever had before. Sometimes a woman even makes a fortune and becomes a better money-maker than her husband was.

At any rate, such women have the sacred joy of independence and the interest that work brings to fill their days, and they have the respect of all who know them. Especially of their children, who can better appreciate mother's virtues when they are not daily rubbed raw by her peculiarities and who do not constantly have to deny themselves because of the burden of her support. For, after all, a dollar will only go so far, and if you have to add another cut to it, it spreads the butter just that much thinner.

Furthermore, in the great majority of cases, mother has to work no harder for a pay envelope than she has to work in her children's home for none. Many and many a woman who is of necessity an unpaid nursemaid or cook in her children's house would be far better off and happier, and so would her children, if she were in some other woman's kitchen or nursery.

A dozen times I have said in this column that women quit work too soon. Life may not begin for them at fifty, but a new career may if they have the courage to attempt it, and they are wrong and foolish to settle down and be dependent on their children. They should start for themselves.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a daughter who is my own flesh and blood and for whom I nearly died bringing into the world, who persists in believing and asserting that she is an adopted child in spite of the evidence of her baptismal certificate and the testimony of people who have known her since she was a child. She treats me as if I were a stranger and is always snapping at me and makes me so unhappy that I shall never go to her house again. Why is this?

Answer—It is a common thing for children to imagine that they have been adopted, or that they were stolen, and to play a game with themselves in which they fancy themselves far superior to the other members of the family, and that they are the long-lost child of some person of high degree and great wealth who will some day come by in a chariot and four horses and bear them off to a wondrous palace.

Your daughter must have a child's mind to be deluding herself with such absurd fancies. I should say she is goofy. DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Wiggily's Hammock

By HOWARD R. GARIS

So many of Uncle Wiggily's rabbit boys and girls wanted to play in the swing he made for them that the day was hardly long enough for them all to take turns. From morning until night the swing swayed to and fro with the weight of more bunnies on the board seat and others waiting their chance to get on.

"I think, Wiggily," said the rabbit lady wife, "that you will have to put up another swing."

"How about a hammock?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Well, a hammock would be better, perhaps," said Nurse Jane. "More bunnies can get in a hammock than in a swing and if they fall out they don't get hurt."

"Then I'll put up a hammock," said Uncle Wiggily. He made one out of five strands of wild grapevine, weaving the pieces together and not leaving any holes large enough to let even the smallest of the bunnies, Cuts, Boogie and Scooties, would fall through and be bumped.

SENDS FOR MR. TWISTYTAIL AND ASKED HIM TO GET IN THE HAMMOCK.

"Let me get in it!" said the fat pig gentleman friend, Mr. Twistytail, and asked him to get in the hammock.

"If it doesn't break with you, Twisty, it won't break with even a dozen rabbits in it," said Mr. Longears.

"That's right!" grunted the pig. "But suppose it breaks with me?"

"Well, if it breaks and you fall you won't get much hurt," laughed the rabbit gentleman. "You're so fat! Ha! Ha! Ha!"

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed the pig. But heavy as he was, the hammock held him and then, since it had stood the test and was safe for even a dozen bunnies, into it the rabbit boys and girls piled and they had lots of fun swinging to and fro. All day the children played in the swing or hammock. In the evening, when the children were off in the woods at their own games, Uncle Wiggily lay in his hammock. It was one of those days when none of the children was in the hammock that the Bob Cat, peering through the woods, saw Uncle Wiggily in it.

BAD CHAP IS FOOLED

"Oh, ho!" sneered the Bob Cat to himself. "I'll loosen the vine rope at one end of the hammock and let Uncle Wiggily fall. He'll be so jiggled and joggled that he won't know what he's doing and I can grab him and take him off to my den."

The Bob Cat crouched down in the bushes so he wouldn't be seen and began snatching up on Uncle Wiggily. But just then along came Uncle Wiggily's wife. "Hello, Butler," said the bunny. "Don't you want to try my hammock? Get in it and I'll go in the cottage and get some lemonade."

"Fine and dandy!" bleated the goat, shaking his horns. He got in the hammock. Along came sneaking the Bob Cat, still thinking Uncle Wiggily was there. The Bob Cat loosed one of the ropes and down the hammock fell with a bang. Uncle Butler was shaken out and he was

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

ASTROLOGERS read this as an uncertain day in planetary direction. It is well to be cautious in all important matters, especially in whatever affects the rights of labor.

Unrest and discontent is foreseen among workers who may experience extraordinary changes in industrial policies. Fear of many sorts appear to threaten.

This is an auspicious day for certain merchants and manufacturers who are to profit greatly in coming months, but they must beware of overstepping human limits. The planetary government encourages many lines of business and especially whatever concerns the home and the average family.

Much buying of clothing and household goods is forecast and increase in marriages throughout the year will create continued demands for dwellings and domestic houses.

Those who read the stars counsel thrift and wise expenditures. The future holds surprising events that will bring new tests to dwellers on the planet Earth.

This is a luck away under which to enter into engagements to marry. Love clouds flourish under this configuration, but romances may be too sudden to be lasting. Theatres prosper. Actors and actresses have the best possible influences guiding them. From small stages great stars are to step into world fame, the seers prophesy.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of much inspiration through great idealism and imagination. Subjects of this sign have literary or artistic gifts.

F. Marion Crawford, novelist, was born on this day, 1854. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Samuel R. Phipps, governor, 1873, and Ethel Gray, governess, 1874.

Large Raft Is On Way to Vancouver

Canadian Press

Prince Rupert, B.C., Aug. 1.—S. J. R. Morgan, formerly the Prince Albert, has left Sedgewick Bay for Vancouver towing the largest Davis raft ever to leave Queen Charlotte Islands. J. R. Morgan announced here yesterday.

The raft is made up mostly of spruce logs and, weather permitting, is expected to reach Vancouver in two weeks.
